SHIPPING.

SAN FRANCISCO AND OVERLAND TO ENGLAND.

AUSTRALIAN, SOUTH PACIFIC, AND CALIFORNIAN MAIL LINE OF STEAMSHIPS to SAN FRANCISCO, calling at the FIJIS and HONOLULU, leaving Sydney every 28 days, carrying her Majesty's Mails.

The splendid s.s. WONGA WONGA, 1500 tons, J. Stewart, commander, will be dispatched from Sydney on SATURDAY, the 8th April next, at 4 p.m.

Saloon passengers are provided with every requisite. Wines and spirits extras. Parties proceeding to the United States or Europe should avail themselves of this line, which is admitted to have decided advantages over all others, and avoiding the disagreeableness of a long sea voyage.

The whole journey may be considered a pleasure trip, and cheaper and quicker than by any other route. Special arrangements will be made with families. N.B.—The steamers to be employed on this line are the Wonga Wonga, City of Melbourne, and City of Adelaide, which are to be fitted with spar decks fore and aft, with spacious and airy state-rooms fitted with two berths, also with family cabins.

For freight, passage, and all particulars apply to M. METCALFE and CO., 9, Bridge-street; or at the Head Office, Grafton Wharf.

H. H. HALL, U. S. Consul, Manager.

THE AUSTRALIAN OINTMENT.

Sir,—On Monday I was bitten by a centipede, and Tuesday and Wednesday I suffered excruciating pain, and my finger commenced to swell, when, having seen advertisements relative to the merits of the Australian Ointment, I bought a pot and applied it; and within an hour I got relief from pain, which I consider was wonderful, as for two nights I could not get any sleep or rest; and, by continuing the application, in a day or two I was quite cured. I think it nothing but right that having received such wonderful benefit from its use to make it public.

LEOPOLD MORGAN, Enmore.

SYNOPSIS OF THE SOCIETY.
Members can join at any time without paying any back subscriptions; they may hold any number of shares, and either increase or decrease them, or suspend their payments for three, six, nine, or twelve months, and recommence payment without paying any back arrears, and may withdraw with profits at any time. 8 per cent. interest per annum is allowed to the investing member and a share in the profits. NO FINES ARE CHARGED TO THE INVESTING MEMBERS. Paid-up shares will be issued, upon which interest at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum will be paid half-yearly, and at the close of the fourth and each succeeding year, a share in the profits. Deposits from £1 to £1000 received, for which interest will be paid half-yearly, and withdrawable upon short notice.

TO BORROWERS.
The repayment for a loan of £100 is only 11s 3d per fortnight, which will repay principal and interest in twelve years. Borrowers will also SHARE IN THE PROFITS YEARLY, which will still further reduce the amount payable. Any sum may be paid over the repayment fixed for the loan. Interest is only charged on the balance owing at the end of each year. Every year's subscriptions lessens the balance due and the amount charged for interest. A LOAN MAY THUS BE REPAID IN ANY NUMBER OF YEARS THAT A BORROWER MAY THINK FIT. No premium or discount is charged or deducted from the loan.

Prospectus, copies of the Rules, price 6d; and every information may be obtained at the Society's Offices, No. 1, Park-street, Sydney.

Office hours—from 10 till 5, and every alternate Tuesday evening from 7 till 8 o'clock.

THE Human Hair Strengthened, Embellished, and Preserved by the use of PRATT'S celebrated DEVONIAN CREAM.

This preparation has now been before the Australian public for upwards of sixteen years, and from its first introduction to the present time the demand for it has been steadily increasing.

The large sale that it commands, and the eulogies which the proprietor frequently receives, incontestably prove the high estimation in which it is held. It possesses the combined advantages of a dandriff lotion and a nutritive cream. It effectually cleanses as well as strengthens the hair.

Prepared exclusively by W. PRATT, Dispensing and Family Chemist, 521, George-street, Sydney.

Sold by most druggists and respectable storekeepers, in bottles, 2s 6d and 4s 6d each.

FATHER WOOLFREY'S WORM POWDERS,

EAMES'S ANTIBILIOUS PILLS,
certified by a Sydney doctor, of many years' standing, to be the best family aperient.
QUININE WINE,
the pleasantest and most valuable tonic, eminently useful in all cases of debility.
W. D. EAMES, South Head Road, near Hyde Park.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT.—Consequences of Neglect.—The neglected treatment of coughs, colds, influenza, rheumatism, and gout is a source of serious maladies. Holloway's Pills, aided by rubbing the ointment on the chest, remove every dangerous symptom. Sold at 533, Oxford-st., W.C., London, and all druggists.

MESSRS. E. ROW and CO., Wholesale Agents for the sale of Mrs. M'Cullagh's celebrated AUSTRALIAN POMADE FOR THE HAIR.

ABBOTT'S NATIVE EMERY SOAP.

A patent combination of powerful cleansing soap, and a peculiarly hard and fine emery.

Mechanics use it, as it effectively removes all traces of occupations which stain or begrime the hands. Ladies find it for their own use, and that of the children, the best toilet soap in the world.

To be had at chemists and druggists in New South Wales.

A small consignment just received by GORDON and GOTCH, 281, George-street.

MRS. BLOOR'S celebrated FOOD for infants and invalids. Sold by Messrs. SENIOR, WATT, and CO., PINHEY, LARMER, M'CARTHY, MITCHELL, and all chemists. Shilling tins.

DOES YOUR HAIR FALL OFF? HAVE YOU SCURF OR DANDRIFF? Use Dr. LOCOCK'S LOTION prepared from recipe of the eminent Physician whose name it bears. It thoroughly eradicates scurf and dandriff, promotes the growth and imparts a silk like lustre to the hair. Bottles 2s 6d. T. M. PANE, Medical Hall, 84, King-street.

GENUINE NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL.—A direct importation from Norway, and specially selected for the Australian colonies, is from C. JORDAN'S Oil Steam Factory, in Throndhjem, and proved to be the finest and purest medicinal oil made, free from all nauseous taste and smell. To be obtained at the principal druggists; and from J. HAMILTON, Botany Road, Sole Wholesale Agent.

HENRY'S COLONIAL OINTMENT.—The Proprietor of this popular native production begs to inform agents, storekeepers, and customers that having received a large supply of the 1s size pots, he is now in a position to execute orders to any extent. Numerous truthful testimonials, highly commendatory of the ointment, are now ready for distribution. Purchasers are requested to ask for HENRY'S COLONIAL OINTMENT. To be had at storekeepers and druggists, in lid pots, 1s each. J. HENRY, George-street South, near Christ Church.

TO JEWELLERS AND WATCHMAKERS.

The proprietor of a first-class business in one of the leading towns of Queensland, being compelled to visit England, is desirous of DISPOSING of his entire STOCK. The premises, situated in the best street, can be either purchased with the stock, or rented.

This opportunity is one rarely offered, as the business is good and lucrative, and the owner is prepared to make some sacrifice, being desirous of leaving for England at an early date.

Terms and all particulars can be obtained on application to S. HOFFNUNG and CO., 2, Wynyard-street, Sydney.

SADDLERS' BUSINESS FOR SALE.
Important to Capitalists, Saddlers, and others.

For PRIVATE SALE, the GOODWILL of a well-established Saddle and Harness-making Business, together with a comfortable freehold dwelling-house, shop, and garden, situated in one of the most flourishing towns in the colony.

As this is a legitimate affair, the proprietor is anxious to give intending purchasers every information. His sale books for the last five years can be inspected, and as there is not another saddler in the town, the fortunate purchaser is certain of success.

The business was established by the proprietor, and successfully carried on by him for the last five years, and the sole reason for his parting with the same being his intention to enter into another line of business.

With the goodwill of the business will be sold a comfortable dwelling-house of 4 rooms, shop, well of water, fine garden, &c. The buildings and improvements are nearly new.

The business can be bought separately if required. The terms liberal; and for further particulars apply to No. 1, Barrack-street, Sydney, on MONDAY, the 6th March, and TUESDAY, the 7th March.

SHIPS' MAILS.

MAILS will close at the General Post Office, as follows:—

FOR BOWEN AND CLEVELAND BAY.—By the Jane, this day, at 6 p.m.

FOR NEW CALEDONIA.—By the Lion, on Monday, at 6 p.m.

The Fire King (s.), from the Manning River, crossed the bar at 4.0 p.m. on the 2nd instant, passed Port Stephens 10.50 p.m., and entered Sydney Heads at 9.15 a.m. on the 3rd. Passed the Agnes Irving (s.) 2 miles north of Cape Hawke bound north. Experienced light N.E. breezes to Newcastle, from thence fresh southerly winds. She brings the following cargo: 430 bags maize, 33 bags wheat, 94 bags oats, 9 bags barley, 5 bags bran, 2 bags potatoes, 45 bags lime, 22 bundles tobacco leaf, 212 cedar boards, 5 bags shank bones, 118 bales shingles, 24 pigs, 50 hides, 10 coops fowls, 12 cases eggs, 6 packages honey, 4 packages beeswax, 200 bags oysters and sundries.

The barque Kate Conley bound north, passed the port yesterday afternoon.

The Diamantina (s.), left the Macleay River at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, the 28th ultimo, and Port Macquarie at 3 p.m. on Thursday, the 2nd instant, and arrived in Sydney at 6 45 p.m. on Friday, the 3rd instant, having experienced light northerly breezes with hazy weather as far as Point Stephens, and moderate southerly breezes with fine weather the remainder. Passed the New England (s.), at 11 a.m. of the 1st instant, off Smoky Cape; the Egmont (s.), at 7 p.m. of the 2nd, off Crowdy Head; and the Agnes Irving (s.), at 8 p.m. off the Manning River the same day. The Diamantina brings up 111 bales wool, 350 bags maize, 18 bags wheat, 20 bags flour, 12 tons sugar, 6 casks honey, 2 packages beeswax, 3 cases fruit, 2 boxes eggs, 2 cases turpentine, 108 hides, 4 coops poultry, 4 pigs, and sundries.

The ship Strathnaver, from London to Sydney, passed Jervis Bay at noon yesterday, 6 barques and a second ship all bound north, were in company at the same time. The barque Freetrader, from Newcastle to Hobart Town, ran into the Bay during the afternoon, windbound.

The Kate Conley, bound to Newcastle, passed Sydney Heads yesterday.

The ship Sir John Lawrence, for London, hauled into the stream yesterday.

The A. S. N. Co.'s s. Florence Irving is now on the Pyrmont slip being cleaned and painted.

The Memento, which arrived yesterday from Otago, is originally from Hongkong, and brings up a portion of her original chow chow cargo. After leaving Otago on the 17th ultimo, she had southerly winds with thick rainy weather, which continued for three days; sighted the Snares on the 22nd, the wind having proved moderate from the S.W. since.

The repairs to the Lady Young (s.) have been effected, and she left for Brisbane yesterday with a full cargo. The good ship looks as neat and trim as when first launched.

THE WEATHER.

THE Storm Signals were hoisted at Fort Phillip yesterday afternoon, denoting a S.E. gale, with thick weather at Jervis Bay. The breeze reached Sydney about 4 o'clock, and the sea at the Heads was reported as making.

NOTICES TO MARINERS.

(From Government Gazette, March 3.)

THE following notice, received from the Marine Board Office, Port Adelaide, is published for general information:

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.—NOTICE TO PILOTS AND MASTERS OF VESSELS.—Notice is hereby given, that the fifth red beacon placed in the cutting through the Inner Bar (vide notice dated July 9th, 1870) has been removed, and a black beacon has been placed at the north side of the Cutting, opposite Snapper Point, to denote the entrance to the cutting from seaward.—By order, GEORGE E. DE MOLE, Secretary. Marine Board Offices, Port Adelaide, February 10, 1871.

The following notice, received from the Queensland Government, is published for general information:

MIDDLE CHANNEL, MORETON BAY.—In consequence of the still further growth northwards of the Venus Bank Spit, masters of vessels are cautioned against rounding the spit with the lighthouses in line, as recommended by the published directions. Until further notice, the spit is to be rounded with the lighthouse at Cape Moreton open to the northward of the Yellow Patch Lighthouse a space equal to half the difference between their heights.—G. P. HEATH, Commander, R.N., Portmaster, Department of Ports and Harbours, Brisbane, 20th February, 1871.

PRESENTATION TO MR. W. SLOMAN.—This gentleman, who after being head-master of the William-street Public School, for a period of upwards of 15 years, was taken leave of by the pupils on Tuesday last, the 28th ultimo. A handsome silver inkstand, gold pen, and pen-holder, together with an address were presented to him, as a testimonial of the esteem and affection in which he is held by the pupils of the school. Mr. Sloman acknowledged the gift in suitable terms, and thanked the donors for the kind manner in which they had referred to him, and for their wishes for his future happiness. Three parting cheers were then given by the pupils for their master, who then affectionately bade them farewell.

SATURDAY, MARCH 4, 1871.

IN the Legislative Assembly, yesterday,

When the House met, there was no quorum, and the Speaker adjourned the House till Tuesday next at 3 o'clock.

THE vote of the Assembly on the motion of Mr. BROWN was fully expected. Several members who entirely disapprove of the tariff of the Government, declined supporting a motion which might immediately displace them, and preferred dealing in committee with that which they considered erroneous or capable of amendment. Parties have a right to consider what elements there are for the formation of a new Government. At the same time we are bound to say that cases may arise where the rejection of measures at all costs is a duty of independent members of the House It is indeed a sad and hopeless thing if, after all these years, there is not in the House more than one PREMIER—more than one COLONIAL SECRETARY, or persons capable of filling these offices. The efforts made by the Administration to conciliate members, and the great advantages some hope to obtain by adhering to them, will doubtless win supporters. But we hope the Opposition, aided by those who will not devour their own words, will be found a sufficient number to defeat the Ministerial plan, opposed as it is to the sworn opinions of the present Assembly. We have no desire to see a dissolution, or the turmoil attending upon it, and we have no such strong antipathy to the present Government as to make us anxious to see them driven from office. If, however, the alternative is between accepting the ad valorem duties and appealing to the country, we trust that the independent members will not hesitate. The trimmers will then have to defend themselves before their constituents, galled by the recollection of broken promises.

The principle upon which the Parliamentary system proceeds is that whatever the Government of the day chooses to spend, the people are bound to make good. The argument for the 5 per cent. is the argument for the 10, and the 10 per cent. will grow into the 15, until the obvious impossibility of collecting money at all throws back the country upon other methods of exaction.

This cannot go on without touching the well-being of every class of the people. The increasing cost of every article of general consumption must prove a considerable deduction from the means of subsistence to all who live upon wages. It is a well-known fact that a tax of a certain amount paid to the Customs involves a considerably larger charge to the consumer, and that this charge presses not only with greater certainty, but with augmented weight, in proportion as the nominal sum is increased. Every man, excepting a favoured few, will therefore be mulcted in his industry and shortened in his means of payment. Every woman will pay more for her dress, as every man will pay more for his clothing.

And what is it all for? That the Assembly may be permitted always to overrun the colonial income—to overrun the millions £100,000 or £200,000 a year. It would be perfectly easy by a little economy to balance the two figures; to bring down the expenditure to the income, and by this means to obtain sufficient to meet the expenditure. But this would not suit those who have their schemes of personal advantage. Rather than forego their unjust projects, they will jeopardise every interest in the country.

We are told, indeed, that the re-export trade of the colony is only one-tenth of the imports. It is easy to see the fallacy of an argument drawn from this difference. The export trade must be taken as a whole; and it is dependent for its continuance upon our general power to compete with foreign markets, and this trade includes the goods which are imported and those which are produced. And but for the imported goods the re-export trade would naturally fall off. We want power to meet the foreign market by goods that are imported and those that are only partially so.

The obstruction of trade in one branch of merchandise inevitably draws with it the restriction of every other. If we wanted an example of this, we might take even the coal trade. We are told that the coals exported last year amounted to 1,000,000 tons. The whole of this produce was the result of machinery and human labour. The machinery is partly imported and partly made on the spot. The men who work in the mines require articles either partially or entirely imported to sustain and clothe them. The question of taxation inevitably affects the value of their labour. If the cost of subsistence is increased 10 per cent., and their wages remain at the same standard, of course they must be 10 per cent. worse in their circumstances. To redress this difference, their wages must be raised, but they must soon reach to the point when the export trade will be no longer possible. Whenever they come to the limits prescribed by the interest of capital, there they must stop, in spite of all the strikes in the world. Men may be ruined by past transactions, but they will not, with open eyes, go into ruin. Thus the increase of the cost of subsistence from the additional taxation must, in the long run, affect the interest of the men raising coal, and there will be a danger before the limits of wages are ascertained of a foreign rival stepping into the field, and thus of our losing distant markets without which our coal mines would be of little value. The value of the article does not depend upon local consumption, but upon the markets of the world. They cannot raise the prices beyond the scale of external competition, or gain one farthing more for the coals because the articles they use are made dearer by taxation.

We suppose that the men who are engaged in the employment of masons, of brickmakers, and all the subordinate auxiliary tradesmen, as well as carpenters and others in the house-building line, must be fully aware that the increased taxation is a deduction from their wages. When it is determined whether wages are high or low, the cost of subsistence must be taken into account. It is only true for a very short time that the rise in the value of labour can exceed the scale which universal custom fixes to the value of capital. The loss must, therefore, fall in the long run from the employers to the employed, and the industrious man must ultimately suffer the consequences of waste and profligate expenditure.

THE refusal of the Assembly to censure the Government plan of retrenchment virtually implies, if not an entire approval of it, at least the resolution to support it. Several members have announced their intention of voting for the tariff, though they do not like it; and, à fortiori, they will support the retrenchment, though they may see objections of detail to it. That there are such objections most candid persons will readily admit. There can be no doubt that it is very unequal in its pressure, falling as it does with much greater severity on some than on others. But the same may probably be said also of new taxes, the incidence of which cannot possibly be made perfectly equitable. It is difficult suddenly to levy any new impost which is not somewhat of the nature of a confiscation or of a bounty. It suddenly alters the values of different descriptions of property. It puts money into some people's pockets and takes money out of others. For this reason all fiscal changes are to be deprecated, and even a bad system steadily adhered to is, in some respects, to be preferred to constant alterations as there is in all social institutions a power of adjustment and adaptation, which largely diminishes the evil effects of bad laws. The argument, therefore, against retrenchment, that it is unequal, cannot be considered conclusive in the presence of a scheme of taxation which also distributes gain and loss in unmerited proportions: and still less so if, by abandoning the retrenchment, the taxation will have to be increased.

At the same time, it will be quite possible for those who have studied the details of the public service, to amend the retrenchment scheme in committee—to point out where there are exaggerations, and where there is injustice, and to make the pressure more uniform. The danger is that, instead of dealing with the question in a comprehensive spirit, hon. members will make the discussion a vehicle for personal preferences and dislikes, fighting for some salaries and surrendering others just as they may happen to be interested in the parties concerned.

It will also be possible to make retrenchment more effective. The excuse made by the Government for the incompleteness of the attempt was the shortness of the time they had had to devote to it. This excuse has been partly removed by the prolongation of the debates, and we shall see whether the additional opportunity has been turned to account. It cannot fail to strike the Cabinet Ministers, that by reducing their own salaries to a uniform standard of, say, £1200 a year, they will make a saving equal to the contributions of a large number of the poorly paid officers of Government. And, certainly, if the country is in such circumstances that it is necessary, in order to keep up its credit and pay its debts, that taxes should be imposed that will press with great severity on some persons engaged in trade, will tend to reduce the commerce of the port, and throw some out of employment, it cannot afford to be lavish in its payment of the high offices of State. Ministers must feel that if it is their bounden duty to afflict the country with fiscal measures injurious to its welfare, they are bound also to share in the general misfortunes, and not to ask for a higher rate of pay than the country can afford to give. Still more acutely will they feel this if any or a majority of them should be conscious that it is partly owing to their own negligence when in office, or their factiousness when in Opposition, that the public finances are in their present embarrassed condition. As the renowned Captain CUTTLE would say, "The bearings of this observation lies in the application of it."

If the Cabinet should be thus led to feel that their own scruples forbid them to take the salaries hitherto voted, or that the public opinion of the House and the country forces them to share in the general reduction they are enforcing on the whole Civil Service, they may, perhaps, be inclined to turn their faces in the direction of Government House, and argue that, in that case, the highest salary should be clipped equally with the lowest. There is certainly more justification for such a procedure this year than there has been before, and if anything is intended to be done in this direction, it should be done this session, as it will not be very long before the tenure of office of the present GOVERNOR will reach its term. Adequate notice ought to be given of the intention of the colony to alter the salary of its future Governors, so that aspirants to the office may not be misled as to the attractiveness of the post. To a certain extent such a reduction is, in the eyes of a particular class of persons, a diminution of prestige, and even prestige is worth paying something for. But the colony is not now in a position to pay for mere display. It has been reduced by successive Governments to a condition in which a deficit of no very enormous amount hangs like a millstone round its neck, in which the further prosecution of railroads has been postponed till its finances can be adjusted, and in which injurious taxes are proposed to keep up the revenue to the standard even of a reduced rate of expenditure. After the expressions that have been used in the Assembly as to the impecuniosity of the Treasury, and the impossibility of finding funds for certain desirable undertakings, it is idle to pretend to keep up the status of the colony by voting large salaries to pay for vice-regal festivities. When the people are asked to tax each loaf a halfpenny in order to meet the necessities of the Government it can hardly be considered that one of those necessities is the maintenance of the accustomed standard of luxury at Government House.

It should be remembered that the Government, in cutting down the salaries of the Civil servants, does not profess to say that those salaries are intrinsically too high—that they are higher than those attached to corresponding positions in the other colonies, or in excess of what is paid for equal capacity and industry in mercantile establishments. The ostensible reason for the reduction, which indeed is professedly only temporary, is that it is absolutely necessary to do something to reduce the cost of government, and that this overruling necessity is the justification for what might otherwise not only be condemned as inexpedient, but even be justly charged as inequitable. Such an argument could not be held good with reference to the lower salaries, and yet faulty when applied to the higher. If the pressure is so great, and the necessity so irresistible, the inexorable logic of facts must be allowed to work out its conclusions in the highest as well as in the lowest circles. If the colony is going to come down generally, to abandon its free trade reputation, and its maritime prestige, and pass under the yoke as a punishment for its extravagance, it is an affliction in which all who belong to the State must equally expect to share. The financial policy of the Government is virtually equivalent to an act of humiliation and repentance, and as it puts the country in that attitude before the world, its other proceedings may fitly consort therewith.

AMUSEMENTS—The advertisements will be found in the sixth page.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION OF NEW SOUTH WALES.—A meeting of the committee was held yesterday, at the Volunteer Office, Phillip-street, for the purpose of taking steps to have a number of small-bore matches shot off under the management of the association. Captain Wells, of No. 1 Company, occupied the chair. The honorary secretary, Mr. Brewer, in referring to the subject, said that no doubt the committee were aware that the Victorian Rifle Association had lately induced, by offering prizes, a number of the small-bore riflemen of that colony to meet in a series of contests, and he believed it was with the view ultimately to revive the Intercolonial matches; in fact he anticipated that a challenge would be sent to the New South Wales Association, and if the Victorian Association sent their representatives to Sydney, our riflemen could not do otherwise than meet them. It was well known that small-bore shooting had fallen off considerably since the close of the Intercolonial matches, when New South Wales won the Challenge Shield; and he, therefore, thought it was desirable some effort should be made to bring out as many riflemen as possible to practise, and this, he believed, could only be done by the Association offering prizes for competition. In this view he was supported by the action taken by the Small-bore Club, which club had, at a meeting held a few weeks back, appointed a deputation to wait on the committee of the Association, and confer with them in arranging for a series of matches, in which the club and the Association might unite. Mr. Brownlow and Lieutenant Strong accordingly waited on him (Mr. Brewer), and at their instance he had called a special meeting of the committee to consider the subject. He believed that it was a matter of importance to preserve the prestige which the riflemen of this colony now held, and it was particularly the province of the Rifle Association to assist in it. Dr. Ward said, that on principle he was opposed to the granting of further money for prizes for small-bore shooting, and should oppose it; but if carried against him, he was willing to assist in organising, and would perhaps take part in the contests himself. Lieutenant Strong and the chairman also expressed their concurrence with the movement. On the motion of Mr. Brownlow, the sum of £15 was voted for aggregate prizes for a number of matches to extend over four months; and it was understood there would be one match in each month. It was moved by Dr. Ward, that Captain Wells, Lieutenant Strong, and Mr. Brewer, together with two others to be nominated by the Small-bore Club, be a committee to make the required arrangements for the matches as early as possible; and on the motion of Mr. Brewer, it was agreed upon that the system of handicapping be applied to the matches. The Small-bore Club, it was stated, would probably provide prizes for each match; and those gentlemen who have small-bores in their possession, and are not desirous of competing, will be requested to loan their rifles to some young but promising shots who are at present without them.

AWARDS FOR THE SILK SHOW.—The following awards have been made by the committee of the Agricultural Society, Dr. Bennett, Mr. Charles Moore, and Mr. Howard Reed:—1st prize, £5 10s.: Mrs. Hobbs, for cocoons, practical compliance with schedule. 2nd prize, £1 10s.: Mrs. Cazaly. Special prize (bronze medal): Mrs. Hobbs, for "grain," remarkable for purity and excellence. Mrs. M. Weaver: care and excellence, as well as beauty of silk exhibited. Mrs. Charles Thorne: general beauty of collection. Highly commended: Mrs. Hobbs, Mrs. Charles Moore, Mrs. R. B. Read, Mr. W. Wallace, Mr. Threlkeld, Miss Downing, general beauty of collection.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT THE MINT.—About ten minutes to 11 o'clock on Thursday evening last, while Mr. Gibson, accountant and registrar, and the resident officer at the Mint, in Macquarie-street, was turning down a kerosene lamp, fixed to the wall by a bracket over a billiard-table, the contents exploded, and the burning oil fell on his head, face, left shoulder, breast, and back, and saturated nearly all his clothes, and set them on fire. His waistcoat and shirt were burnt almost completely off his body. He ran into the verandah outside, where he was seen by a constable, who called out, and thereby gave the alarm to the men who were at the time on duty at the police barracks. Gibson fell down on the flags soon after reaching the verandah. Constable Philip Dudley ran up to Gibson, whose remaining clothes were still on fire, took his uniform off and wrapped it round him, and managed after considerable exertion to extinguish the flames. As soon as this had been done Gibson, though very seriously burnt, got up and walked back to his room. Gibson's son after the accident occurred, followed his father along the passage leading to the verandah, all the while endeavouring to pull his clothes off. In doing this the son's clothes also caught fire. They were pulled off by constable Gorman, but not before Gibson, jun. had been severely burnt on the right hand and arm. Dr. Markey soon arrived from the Infirmary and attended to the father. Dr. Nathan who was also called in shortly after the occurrence, though he did not think the injuries immediately of a fatal character, thought them to be rather serious in their nature. Last night Dr. Nathan considered Mr. Gibson to be much better and in a fair way to recovery.

A CONSTABLE REPRIMANDED.—A serious charge against a constable, and one affecting his official position, was made by Mr. Hale yesterday, during the sitting of the Water Police Court. A man who was arrested overnight by constable Maloney was brought up for drunkenness, and the case being proved he was fined in the usual penalty, but Mr. Hale, who was on the Bench, stated that from what he witnessed of the occurrence in Fort-street, he felt it his duty to report the matter to the Inspector-General of Police. He confessed that the man appeared rather troublesome, and he (Mr. Hale) went up to him and asked him to go along peaceably. While the man had his hands by his side he saw the constable level a blow at the defendant's face which knocked him down flat upon the ground, with such force that it was astonishing he was not severely hurt. In the whole course of his experience in the colony he had never seen such a thing before, and for the sake of the force, which was a credit to Sydney, he hoped it would never occur again. Constable Maloney was about to enter into a defence of his conduct when the Police Magistrate told him that as the matter would be brought before the Inspector-General, he would have an opportunity of replying to the charge.

ST. LEONARDS PENNY BANK.—The sixth annual meeting of the directors of this Bank was held in the School of Arts, on Saturday evening last, the president, Dr. Ward, in the chair. Some formal business having been disposed of, the hon. treasurer, Mr. H. Edgell, submitted an audited annual statement of accounts. The following is an extract:—Year ending 31st December, 1870:—Dr.—Receipts: To balance, 1869, £471 8s. 6d.; deposits, £294 1s. 7d.; pass-books sold, 16s. 4d.; interest on debentures, 30th June, £6; interest, Savings' Bank, £12 6s. 1d.; total, £784 12s. 6d. Cr.—Disbursements: By repayments to depositors, £422 1s. 9d.; interest accrued on debentures, £4 7s. 6d.; expenses per vouchers, £5 4s. 6d.; donation, School of Arts, £3; balance, £434 13s. 9d.; City Debentures, £200; cash, Savings' Bank, £136 13s. 7d.; cash in hand, £13 5s. 2d.—£349 18s. 9d.—total, £784 12s. 6d. From which it will be seen that the balance due to depositors has diminished during the year, but within that time the directors thought it expedient to reduce the rate of interest from 5 to 2½ per cent., and also to decline receiving at any one time from any depositor, the sum of £10 and upwards. There are now, notwithstanding, 202 accounts open. Captain Bremner and Mr. Leslie Herring were elected directors. Mr. Edgell resigned the office of hon. treasurer, which was accepted by Mr. W. Tunks. The directors expressed their thanks to Mr. Edgell for the efficient manner in which he had performed the very onerous duties of his office for more than two years. The hon. secretary was requested to convey the thanks of the directors to the auditors, Messrs. E. Lord and M. Bailey, for their services for the past year, and to request them to continue their offices for the current year. The thanks of the directors were tendered to the committee of the School of Arts for their liberality in allowing the Bank the use of their institution free of charge. The directors regret that during the year the Bank has lost the services of a willing, painstaking, and efficient director in the person of Mr. Robert Hunt, whose duties as a public servant has occasioned his transference to Melbourne.

MASONIC PRESENTATION.—On Monday evening last, the members of Lodge Woolloomooloo, 386 S.C., in open lodge, presented to their Past Master, Br. Henry Priestly, P.G.J.W., a very handsomely engrossed testimonial, in recognition of the valuable services rendered by Br. Priestly to that lodge during the three successive years when he held office as its Master. The present R.W.M., Br. Parker, in making the presentation on behalf of the lodge, spoke in the highest terms of Br. Priestly's services to the lodge, which had been greatly benefited and enlarged by his untiring exertions and judicious management. Br. Priestly returned a suitable reply. The testimonial (framed in maple) is an admirable specimen of penmanship, reflecting great credit on Br. Gale, of Lodge Woolloomooloo, by whom it was designed and executed.—Communicated.

THE SEASON.—From Boolong there are complaints of excessive wet weather. The correspondent of the Kiama Pilot of the 1st instant, says:—Our potatoes, unfortunately, are in a precarious state from the long-continued wet weather, the farmer being unable to dig. This is to be much regretted, since I am informed from good authority, that our potatoes, this season, are about the best in the Sydney market and command the highest price. Well, since I have been here, I never have seen better potatoes on the whole. The reason I assign for this season's potatoes being so good is on account of the renovation the land received in many places from the mud deposited upon it by the late floods and the ashes of the timber which had to be burned. From the same cause I attribute our present healthy-looking maize, notwithstanding the very many drawbacks of wet weather and caterpillars. Many prognosticate another flood before this wet weather has ended, but I hope such fears are groundless. Vegetables of all kinds have been very plentiful; cabbages cannot be used fast enough, and are now helping to better the land. Cucumbers are very numerous, so are radishes, turnips, carrots, peaches, pears, apples, &c. In fact, I don't think a more prolific year has passed over us since the year of '60. Since writing the foregoing we have had a very heavy fall of rain, so much so as to cause a rise in the river and to fill up hollows in our maize paddocks, thus destroying a quantity of growing corn, which otherwise might have done well. Many grave fears are entertained that a flood will be the inevitable consequence of so much rain. The Sassafras correspondent of the same journal reports that the weather experienced here for the last three months is altogether unprecedented, and we hope never to see the like again. It has rained almost incessantly ever since the commencement of harvest, and has quite precluded the possibility of getting in our oat crop which still lies out in the field unbound, although it has been cut—some of it—for more than a fortnight. I fear there will be a great loss experienced in the yield before it is housed, as the frequent turning of the sheaves necessitated to prevent the grain from germinating and the straw from getting mouldy, causing it to shed very much. I find where the oats are cut before being quite ripe that they are not nearly so liable to be discoloured by the wet as when allowed to get thoroughly ripe, and will not shed so easily when moved about. The potato crops are thriving well, and where they have been planted on new land the yield will be something unusual. A few roots tried the other day turned out as high as twenty tubers to the root, of a fair size. A great change has recently taken place in the weather for the better, and there is every prospect of its holding fine for a time. The Wagga Wagga Express of Wednesday says: The moisture of the present season is telling favourably upon the owners of vineyards, and, if the weather continues damp and showery, the vintage, it is to be feared, will, as far as this district is concerned, be a very indifferent one indeed. The grapes in many places have cracked and opened with the wet, and stand sadly in need of a little dry and sunny weather to ripen and mature them. At Gregadoo some of the vines are looking magnificent, being actually loaded with grapes; but the berries, though large and well formed, are often wanting in flavour, and would be greatly improved by a few days of hot and dry weather. The black Hambro variety seems less injuriously affected by the climatic influences of the season than most others, and occasionally produces some magnificent samples of fruit. Some of these, taken from the Gregadoo vines, have been brought into town during the week by Mr. Johnstone, and have seldom been surpassed in the district. The season is now getting rather advanced, and grapes fresh from the vine will soon become a scarce commodity. The Maitland Mercury of Thursday has the following information:—It seems probable that, notwithstanding the somewhat unfavourable season, there will be a fair yield of grain from the farms now under maize. The constant rains have operated rather injuriously in the low moist lands, having sent the cane up too strongly for its power of production, and consequently the cob is small and light. But on hill sides and high lands generally the same cause will have proved beneficial, and altogether there will be a considerable quantity of maize placed upon the market. It is too soon to speculate upon the probable market rate, but some dealers seem to fancy that the yield will be such that rates will rule very low. A resident on the Upper Williams informs us that the maize there promises a spendid yield, and that the country looks thriving in every way. So far as we can observe and learn, a large quantity of millet is likely to be produced this season, so that local broom factories will have sufficient supply of the raw material—a supply not always forthcoming in former years, if we recollect aright. The Singleton correspondent says:—From inquiries made by us we glean that the vintage throughout this district will be almost an entire failure. The whole proceeds of the vintage will probably be about onefourth of an ordinary season, and possibly even considerably less. The quality of the must is also likely to be considerably below the usual standard. The presses are now at work, and in a week or two we shall possess more definite information.

JUNEE AND SEBASTOPOL REEFS.—The Gulgong rush is stated by the Wagga Express to have considerably reduced the population engaged upon the reefs at these places, and business has in consequence become upon them exceedingly slack. The men that have left, however, had mostly been either working upon speculation in claims that had never paid well, or in prospecting new ones, and the yield of gold, therefore, is not for the present likely to be much affected by their removal. In Wallett's claim at Junee the stone is looking as well as ever, and, as the reef is thick and not very difficult to work, it promises to yield for some time to come most handsome returns. The "Dust Hole," at one time the best paying claim at Junee, but afterwards deserted, the gold appearing to have run out, has within the last few days been again taken up by Messrs. Williamson, Shadowski, and party, and good stone has again been struck. On Monday last some excellent prospects were obtained, and there seems reason to believe that the lost run has certainly been recovered, and that the claim will soon again take its place as one of the best in the district. On Thursday next the first regular gold escort from Sebastopol will leave for Wagga Wagga, and will bring with it but very little short of 1000 oz. of gold. About one half of this has been obtained from the Company's claim, and the other half from No. 1 North. Upon the Little Wonder reef, near Coman's, the prospectors have come upon some splendid-looking stone, as may be judged from the fact that on Friday last an ounce of gold was washed out from a single dish crushed by hand. The stone altogether prospects well, and when the erection of Kirkpatrick's machine is completed, as in a few weeks it will be, a good crushing from the Little Wonder is certain to be obtained. In the adjoining claims no payable gold has as yet been struck, but prospecting is going on vigorously, and the men working upon them are all sanguine of ultimate success.

NEW SOUTH WALES PARLIAMENT.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

FRIDAY, MARCH 3.

THE Speaker took the chair at twenty-nine minutes past 3 o'clock, but there being no quorum present at half-past, the House was adjourned until 3 o'clock on Tuesday next. The following members were present:—Sir James Martin, Messrs. Robertson, Lord, Byrnes, Lackey, Allen, Dodds, Stewart, Lee, W. Forster, Alexander, King, Onslow, Macleay, Tunks, Lloyd, Sutherland, Farnell, Brookes.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

FROM 24TH FEBRUARY TO 3RD MARCH.

A MATCH was played on the Albert Ground, Redfern, between the "Warwick" and "Albert" clubs, on the 14th and 21st of February. Victory remained with the "Warwicks."

It is reported that a new gold-field has been discovered within ten miles of Wellington. If that be the case, it will be the first find of gold on the Macquarie.

Mr. Richard South, whilst riding a few days since, between Gulgong and Mudgee, was suddenly thrown from his horse, and so injured that he died a few days afterwards.

It is stated that a large property in England has been left to a poor resident at Woodburn, Richmond River.

A prisoner named Mary Williams died in Darlinghurst gaol, from natural causes, on the night following the 23rd ultimo.

On the 24th ultimo, the yachts of the Prince Alfred Yacht Squadron met for evolution practice, but the weather proved unfavourable.

The dead bodies of two white men have recently been found in the bush; one between Merriwa and Scone, and one between Merriwa and Cassilis. Both of these poor unfortunates appear to have belonged to the vagrant class.

On Monday last, a handsome gold watch was presented to Miss Foster, who recently left the Public School at Goulburn, to join the teaching staff of the Model School in Fort-street.

A movement is being made to get the Government to extend a sewer which passes from George-street, Haymarket, and discharges itself into a sort of ditch running through the reclaimed land in Darling Harbour. This open ditch (by means of which the sewage escapes into the harbour) overflows the flat land in wet weather, giving rise to a noisome stench, considered to be injurious to the health of the people resident in the locality. A deputation waited on the Minister for Works on this subject on the 27th ultimo.

The friends and supporters of the Eight-hours Labour Movement met together and celebrated their annual picnic at Manly on Monday last.

A meeting of the Ruridecanal Chapter of Mulgoa was held at that place on the 14th instant, the Rev. J. Ross, Rural Dean, presiding. There was service in the church, with holy communion. The Chapter met in the parsonage, and had a sederunt of about three and a half hours.

LAW.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY.

SITTINGS FOR THE TRIAL OF CAUSES.

Before Mr. Justice FAUCETT and a jury of four.

USHER V. THOMPSON.

The trial of this case was resumed from Thursday, and concluded.

It was an action upon a building contract. The plaintiff, lfred Usher, sued the defendant, Alexander Thompson, r a balance said to be due to the former under a contract tween them that plaintiff should do the work of the finishing trades" in the erection of a house on the Glenre Road, of which Mr. J. B. Begg was the proprietor, o for extra work at the same building. e declaration, besides the count upon the tract, &c., contained the usual counts, for k and labour, materials, money paid, &c. There several pleas—denying the plaintiff's claim, alleging ment before action of all that was really due, and ing up a counter claim for payments to plaintiff's &c.

Mr. O'Brien, instructed by Mr. Castles, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Darley and Mr. Davis, instructed by Messrs. Gurner and Robberds, for the defendant.

The names of the jury were given in yesterday's Herald.

The plaintiff and defendant were both builders and contractors. The defendant had contracted for the erection of Mr. Begg's villa, whereof Mr. Backhouse was the architect. Plaintiff was sub-contractor for what are called the finishing trades—carpenter's work, painting, and glazing, &c. The plaintiff's contract was for £820. He claimed the whole of this, and £118 7s. 6d. for extras—in all £938 7s. He gave credit for payments amounting to £702 16s. 6d., and brought the present action for the balance, £235 10s. 6d. This case, like most other cases of the same kind, involved disputes as to matters of account and conflicting evidence as to various understandings between the parties, in reference to different portions of the work. There were questions of this kind as to the amount to which defendant was entitled as his share of the value of certain old materials, and whether defendant was entitled to charge for certain portions of the work, the result of alterations from the original plan, as extras, or was bound, under arrangements made or concurred in by himself, to do this work, for the contract price because of other alterations having been made which prevented him from being a loser by these changes, taking them as a whole.

The jury found a verdict for the defendant.

This was the last case for trial at the present sittings.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Mayor and the Police Magistrate, with Messrs. Pinhey, G. Hill, Hordern, Levey, Oatley, and C. Campbell.

Three persons were fined 5s. each, and one was fined 10s., for drunkenness.

Mary Ann Moore, a vagrant, found drunk and disorderly, was sentenced to be imprisoned three months.

Thomas Claridge, taken into custody on suspicion of having caused the death of Maria Smith, of Botany Road, was remanded to the Coroner's Court.

John Scott, charged with having assaulted Ann Scott, his wife—who desired protection and not punishment—was ordered to enter into his own recognisance in £20 to keep the peace and be of good behaviour for six months.

John Smith, charged with having stolen a piece of cast iron, valued at 11s. 6d. the property of Edward Young, of Pyrmont, his employer, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to be imprisoned one month.

William Gossarlin was summarily convicted of having stolen a door key and two whale's teeth, the property of William Newland, in whose house prisoner was a lodger, and was sentenced to be imprisoned one month.

Bridget Dogherty was charged with feloniously wounding. Charlotte Easthope deposed that she resides as governess with Mrs. Thomas, in Devonshire-street, and prisoner was a servant in the house; between 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening of Thursday last week she (witness) was playing the piano for a dancing class, when the prisoner rushed into the room, carrying a liqueur-bottle, and with the bottle struck witness a blow on the head, inflicting a wound, and breaking the bottle, a portion of which fell on her shoulder and cut it; as prisoner struck the blow she said, "That's for you;" she appeared to be sober, and witness had had no quarrel or words with her; prisoner had been about three weeks in the service. Ellen Thomas deposed that she keeps a school for ladies, in which last witness is a teacher, and corroborated Mrs. Easthope's statement of the affair; Mrs. Easthope's shoulder was cut by the neck of the broken bottle falling upon it; witness sent for Dr. M'Donagh, who dressed the wounds; prisoner's manners have been somewhat eccentric during the three weeks of her residence in witness's family. Remanded until Tuesday for the evidence of Dr. M'Donagh.

On the summons paper were twenty-five cases, of which three were dismissed, one was postponed, and ten were not prosecuted. On the prosecution of inspector Mitchelson, Peter Greig, a seller of bread, was found guilty of having in his shop twenty-seven loaves of short weight, the total deficiency being 12 oz., and was sentenced to pay the fixed penalty of 5s. for every ounce of deficiency weight, or £3 in the whole; James Hankin, another seller of bread, was fined 15s. in respect of 3 oz. deficient in the weight of eight loaves found in his shop; and William Sands, a seller by retail, was fined 20s. for having in his shop four light weights. In each case 10s. 6d. was allowed as professional costs to Mr. Cory, who appeared for the prosecutor. The forfeited bread was directed to be sent to the Soup Kitchen. Michael Donellan and James Harris, publicans, were each fined 10s. for keeping open their public-houses for the sale of liquors on Sunday; and — Lacy was fined 5s. for keeping open her shop for the purpose of trade on Sunday. In Jones v. Myers, for wages, the complainant obtained an order. Six persons were fined in sums varying from 1s. to 10s., for offences against the Police Act—chiefly that of allowing animals to stray.

LICENSING BUSINESS.—An auctioneer's license was granted to Herbert H. Brown, of Pitt-street. Two publican's licenses were transferred—Henry Wakeham's, of the Cricketers' Arms, Newtown, to Robert Hynard; and Bridget Toye's, the Yorkshire Stingo, Goulburn-street, to Isaac Walker. Twelve hawkers' licenses were granted.

WATER POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Water Police Magistrate, and Messrs. Hale, Burnell, and James Tait.

Three drunkards were fined in the usual penalty.

Alfred Davis, Ann Davis, and Peter Baynes were punished for riotous behaviour in the public streets.

Henry M'Laughlin was fined 20s., or seven days' imprisonment.

William Young was charged with unlawfully and maliciously inflicting grievous bodily harm on Peter Johnson. Prisoner was arrested by Constable Kilpatrick, at his residence, on the above charge. In reply, he said that prosecutor had come to his house and aggravated him. Peter Johnson deposed that on the 17th of last month, between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening, he was passing prisoner's house being under the influence of drink at the time; he said something to him (prisoner) which he did not remember, and the prisoner then jumped upon him and inflicted such injuries that he had to be conveyed to the Infirmary, and had been unable to do any work since. The evidence given by Dr. Markey, house surgeon to the Sydney Infirmary, was to the effect that prosecutor was received into the Infirmary on the 18th February, suffering from fracture of one of the ribs; the fracture was not of a dangerous kind, but one likely to produce great pain. The evidence for defendant went to prove that prosecutor went to defendant's house, knocked at the door, and challenged defendant out to fight; defendant came out, and during the scuffle which ensued prosecutor was thrown, or fell down. Prisoner was discharged. Mr. R. Robinson appeared for complainant, and Mr. Greer for defendant.

SUMMONS SHEET.—There were twenty cases on the summons sheet. James O'Grady, alias Garvey, Michael M'Namara, Thomas Shortell, and Henry Hammond were punished for permitting their respective omnibuses to loiter. John Pugley was fined 5s., with 5s. costs, or four days' imprisonment. John Shute, charged with carrying persons in a state of intoxication in his cab, was ordered to pay a penalty of 5s., with 5s. costs. Daniel Duffy, charged with refusing to pay the legal fare of 22s. 6d. to one James Hay for the hire of a hansom cab, was ordered to pay £1 3s. 6d., with 5s. costs. The following correspondence was then read. 1st. To Mr. Starkey, informing him that the Council will use its influence to keep the Terrace Road 66 feet wide. 2nd. To the Colonial Secretary, informing him that a free library has been established at Marrickville, and is maintained by the Council, in accordance with the provisions of section 141 of the Municipalities Act of 1867, and requesting that all publications issued from the Government Printing Office may be forwarded to the Council for use in the library; also, applying for a grant of £200 in aid of the purchase of books. 3. From Mr. Miles, requesting that the footpath on the Addison Road, opposite his property, may be repaired. 4. From Mr. Garratty, asking for permission to place some building materials on the footpath on Enmore Road, while he is erecting some cottages on that road. 5. From Mr. P. Boland, asking for permission to erect a scaffolding round his house to enable him to cement the same. These letters were left in the hands of the Mayor, who granted permission to Messrs. Garratty and Boland, and referred Mr. Miles's letter to the Committee for Works, for immediate attention. 6. From Mr. S. Cook, complaining of a nuisance caused by the tannery on the Victoria Road, and enclosing letters from four gentlemen, confirmatory of his statements. 7. From Mr. Alcock, stating that no nuisance existed at the tannery. These letters, together with the report from the Inspector of Nuisances on the subject, were considered at a later period of the evening, when it was moved by Alderman Kingsbury, and seconded by Alderman Robertson,—"That the report from the Inspector of Nuisances, stating that no nuisance existed, be adopted." An amendment was then moved by Alderman Halligan, and seconded by Alderman Graham,—"That the letters from Messrs. Cook and Alcock, together with the report from the Inspector of Nuisances, be referred to the By-laws Committee for their consideration and report." The motion for the amendment was put, and lost on the following division:—Ayes, Aldermen Graham, Halligan, and Payten; noes, Aldermen R. Cook, Kingsbury, Moyes, Robertson, and Teeson. The original motion for the adoption of the report was then carried. The Council resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of appointing standing committees. The committees having been appointed, and the Council resumed its sittings, the Mayor, as chairman of the Committee of the Whole, reported that the committees had been appointed as follows, viz.:—By-law Committee, the Mayor, Aldermen Robertson and Cook; Committee for Works, Aldermen Graham, Teesen, and Moyes; Finance Committee, Aldermen Halligan, Kingsbury, and Payten; also, that Alderman Graham had been elected chairman of the Works Committee, and Alderman Halligan chairman of Finance Committee, so that the committee for general purposes would consist of the Mayor and Aldermen Graham and Halligan. Moved by Alderman Kingsbury, seconded by Alderman Robertson, and carried,—"That the report be adopted and confirmed." Moved by Alderman Halligan, seconded by Alderman Kingsbury, and carried,—"That Messrs. G. C. Tompson and James Wedlock be appointed valuers of this borough for the current municipal year." Alderman Halligan was appointed by the Council to sign cheques with the Mayor, and countersigned by the Council Clerk. The Finance Committee were then directed to prepare an estimate of the probable expenses for the year, and bring it up at next meeting. The Council then rose.—G. C. TOMPSON, Council Clerk.

ST. PETERS.—A meeting of the Council of the above municipality was held at Alderman Turner's, St. Peters, on Wednesday evening last, the 1st March. Present—The Mayor (G. A. Tucker, Esq., J.P.), and a full Council. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed. The following correspondence was then read. A letter from Messrs. Sanderson and Brierley, surveyors, Custom House-buildings, protesting against the appointment of Messrs. Tompson and Horner as valuers of the ratable property in the municipality. A letter from Mr. Sanders, C.E., offering to prepare a map of the municipality; ordered to stand over. A letter from Messrs. Curtis and Gannon, Pitt-street, acknowledging their appointment as solicitors to the municipality. The declarations of Messrs. Tompson and Horner, as valuers for the municipal district, were laid upon the table. A motion for fixing the days and hours of attendance at the Council Chambers was ordered to stand over until next meeting. Moved by Alderman Percival, seconded by Alderman Harber, and carried unanimously,—"That application be made to the Government to have the operation of the Cattle Driving Act, 16 Vict., No. 23, extended to this municipality." On the motion of Alderman Percival, seconded by Alderman Lenehan, it was unanimously carried,—"That Messrs. Cunninghame and Co., of Pitt-street, be appointed printers to this municipality." Notices of motion for the next meeting were then handed in. The Council Clerk read the following letters which he had written, viz.:—1. To Captain M'Lerie, Inspector-General of Police, for his approbation of the appointment of constable Downes as Inspector of Nuisances. 2. To H. Halloran, Esq., Principal Under-Secretary, applying for the extension to this municipality of the provisions of the Country Towns Police and Alignment Acts. 3. To the Government Printer, applying to be furnished with the Government Gazette. The Council then rose.—FREDERICK KEENE, Council Clerk.

WEST BOTANY.—A meeting of the Council of the above municipality was held on Tuesday evening, the 28th February, at 7.30 p.m., at the Tempe Family Hotel, Arncliffe. Present—The Mayor (Mr. William Yates) and a full Council. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed. Tenders for two valuers, to value all ratable property in the municipality, in terms of the Municipalities Act of 1867, were then opened, when that of Messrs. Sanderson and Brierley was accepted. A letter was read from the English and Scottish Bank, respecting the establishment of a cash credit in that bank for the necessary current expenses of the municipality. Applications for the office of Council Clerk were then opened and read, when, on the motion of Alderman Woolacott, seconded by Alderman M'Innes, Mr. F. Keene was by a unanimous vote appointed to that office. Discussion took place respecting the place for the future meetings of this Council, when it was decided that the Mayor, in conjunction with Alderman M'Innes, make inquiries, and report thereon at the next meeting. The Council then adjourned until Tuesday, the 7th instant.—FREDERICK KEENE, Council Clerk.

ALEXANDRA.—A meeting of the Council was held on Wednesday evening, 22nd February at half-past 7. Present—a full Council. The minutes of the 16th December, 1870, and two last meetings, were read and confirmed. Alderman Lewis then moved,—"That the Mayor and Aldermen in Council assembled do agree to accept the offer of the chairman of the Botany Road Trust, at the recent conference held before the hon. the Colonial Secretary, 17th February last, viz., that we agree to pay over to the Cook's River and Mud-bank Road Trust, one half of the rates collected on the Botany Road, from Kitson's to the tollbar, annually, in consideration that the said Trust shall keep the kerbing, guttering, and footpaths in repair and the gutters cleaned, and that the old tollbar be removed within one month from this date." Sundry accounts were put and passed. The Council then adjourned.—JAMES JONES, Council Clerk.

SCENE IN A BOROUGH COUNCIL.

THE Bathurst Municipal Council seems to have released itself from the fix in which the contentions of its aldermen had placed it. On Monday, the Corporation met to attempt, for the fifth time, to elect a Mayor. It was resolved to proceed by open voting. The candidates nominated were Mr. W. Ross and Dr. Machattie, and their respective supporters indulged in a discussion purely personal and mutually abusive. Referring to the report in the Free Press, it will be found that Alderman Rae (a supporter of Mr. Ross) delivered himself thus:—"Dr. Machattie had said, and repeated, that he had always been pitted against inferior men. [Dr. Machattie: It's a lie.] Nincompoop, doctor, that's the word. Now, who had ever the doctor been pitted against? In the first place, the doctor had been opposed in his efforts to gain the chair of the municipality by Mr. Stanger. Now, he didn't say that Mr. Stanger was chosen to the mayoralty because of his superior ability; but he remembered that on the occasion of the doctor's defeat he asked him (Alderman Rae) to subscribe towards the £25 to put him (the doctor) in a position to resign his seat in the Council. [Dr. Machattie: It's a lie.] —After some altercation, during which the table underwent rather more than a slight punishment, Alderman Rae proceeded: Then there was Alderman Jones, a man entirely unknown to the public, brought into the position of an alderman; and what kind of claims could he have? The only occasion in which he appeared in a public light were from two letters which had appeared in the Bathurst Free Press, one signed "A Practical Builder," and the other, "D. Jones;" and both of which formed one piece of practical bunkum. Next, Mr. Mayne had been pitted against Mr. Phillips. Well, the majority obtained by Mr. Mayne on the occasion would plainly show that the ratepayers did not want Mr. Phillips at all, and they would not have him any longer. He would admit that it was possible to oust Mr. Mayne, and possible to inflict fines upon him. Some years ago Mr. Mayne had been obliged to take the benefit of the Insolvent Act; but it was seen what opinion the creditors had of Mr. Mayne, when not one of them had proved a claim in the estate—(interruption and uproar); and this persecution which was going on, was upheld and pursued in a spirit of revenge—(confusion)—revenge which was hatched in hell, and had in this instance found its place upon earth. (Confusion and unruly excitement.) [As soon as quiet had been partially obtained, the speaker excitedly proceeded.] Then there was the Bathurst Times of Wednesday last, which took an entirely one-sided view of the matter; and published an article which showed that the writer was entirely unconscious of the same principle of revenge which ran through every line. Again, there was the Free Press, which on Saturday published an article which spoke very little for either the head or the heart of the writer. He (Alderman Rae) did not know how it was that the writer should so far have forgotten his constant companion, Shakespeare, as to say that the Town Clerk had called the meeting "on his own hook"—(laughter)—when the writer knew well, that it was at the instigation of this meeting (a blow on the table) that the Town Clerk called the special meeting. ("No, no," and noisiness.) One gentleman had called at his (the Alderman's) shop and had remarked with reference to that article that the person who wrote it ought to be dipped in the Macquarie—(disturbance—on its subsiding the speaker continued); but gentlemen, I disagree with the opinion; for I would be the last in the world to contaminate that river by dipping such a man into it—(a finishing thump again upon the unfortunate table). On the other side Alderman Stanger said he saw that there were dark things being done; and it was for the credit of the municipality that some stand should be made. He moved,—"That no further proceedings be entered upon until the Council had the Attorney-General's opinion," for the turn which the question had that day taken was most extraordinary and most disgraceful. He continued: "I'll do my duty, and I always did it; and when I occupied the chair in the Council there was more work done in the municipality than had ever been done since. (No, there was more work done last year.—There was not), and when he was chosen Mayor, he did nothing to force it. Mr. Mayne: You stood twenty-four bottles of champagne.—(Laughter, and some delay.) Yes, and though he (Alderman Stanger) did not drink it himself, he would stand champagne again if he were elected Mayor. (Considerable confusion, amid which, up jumped Alderman Boyd, and without further introduction exclaimed,—"I am only a baker, and you are only a tinker; I know you to be a tinker down there in William-street; I'm as good as you." It would be impossible to describe here the irregularity and turbulence of the proceedings, Alderman Boyd especially demonstrating to the table, in a most feeling and physical manner, that, though he was only a baker, he was as good as anybody. The chairman ruled that the motion made by Alderman Stanger could not be put, and the Alderman then moved that Dr. Machattie be Mayor. This brought up as a seconder Alderman Jones. He said that at the two first meetings there had been confusion; the present was the fifth they had held; and "this," said the speaker, "crowns all." His worthy friend, Mr. Rae [Mr. Rae: "Don't call me your worthy friend"]; "I will," said Alderman Jones; "I am a Welshman" (laughter and jeers from several of the aldermen); and (confusion) he would tell them that Wales was never conquered. (Roars of laughter, and from one or two of the aldermen signs of ridicule.) He would repeat it, "Wales was never conquered." (Continued interruption.) Alderman Machattie said that before the business went further he had one or two remarks to make. Alderman Rae: You are out of order (here the scene took the character of one of the most disgraceful kind, and such as we had never previously witnessed even in public meetings; and far exceeding anything we had previously read of in a municipal chamber.)—The doctor, at intervals, was heard to say the remarks of Alderman Rae that day had proceeded from a dirty tongue; "and you know," said the doctor, "that you have been my enemy for years; since I lost £1700 by your family." Alderman Rae: "It's a lie." Alderman Machattie: But what about Mr. Stanger? Why, it was well known that when that gentleman filled the chair of the Council, he did so with honour to himself and credit to the municipality. The business was carried through in a most respectable manner. He had not seen the same thing during the last year." Alderman Boyd, raising his right hand with a sweep, brought it down, not this time upon the table, but upon his left hand, with a smack which rang through the room, and made the audience in the body of the hall look around. He stoutly denied that Alderman Stanger's administration was better than his Worship's—who filled the chair last year. Alderman Machattie—gaining an opportunity—said he would not further notice the coarse language of Alderman Rae. He would only further observe that it was his (Alderman Machattie's) full intention to decline all overtures for a seat in the Council when his last term had expired. The voting gave the office of Mayor to Alderman Ross, by a majority of 5 to 3, and after the declaration as Mayor elect, he said: "The deed is done! I thank you for the honour, and I hope the business of the Corporation will be attended to with vigour. (Raising his voice)—I have been duly elected, and (striking the table) I will rule this Council with a rod of iron! If any gentleman should be out of order I will not fail to put him down at once." Alderman Boyd moved a vote of thanks to the ex-Mayor. Alderman Stewart: "One to the chairman." The Mayor: "Come to Lewis's, and partake of the choicest vintage there." Exeunt. Thus ended a series of proceedings which, for the credit of humanity, we trust we shall never see equalled.

NEW ZEALAND.

VIA Melbourne, we have intelligence from the various provinces of New Zealand to the 20th ultimo.

Sir David Monro had been elected for Motueka by the casting vote of the Returning-officer. The yield of gold at the Thames for the month of January was 11,865 oz., from 6832 tons of stone. The Caledonian claim continues to yield wonderfully. Its shares at latest dates were at £60. In January, £5000 worth of rations were issued in Auckland to the destitute. The works for water supply to the Thames township were to commence at once. Ohinemuri advices state that Te Hira has finally consented to the overland mail. Whitiora, with thirty armed natives, were at Whareruekau, five miles from Alexandra. He visited Tapihana on his way. Tapihana was defiant, and danced a war-dance. Barton's party, who returned with Whitiora, say Tapihana will not be taken alive, neither will Todd's murderers. An open-air meeting, called by the unemployed at Wellington, was held on the 15th. About 150 persons were present. A petition was adopted, praying the Government to grant to the people to be placed on land in the Manawatu on deferred payments and employment on public works, on the same terms as had been granted to the Swedish immigrants. The Auckland Evening Star of February 16 states that authentic news has been received to the effect that Mr. Webb has purchased Messrs. Hollady and Brenham's interest in the Honolulu and Australian line, and has formed a company with a capital of 2,000,000 dollars, which is to run boats to Tahiti, Honolulu, Fiji, Sydney, and Auckland. The morning papers say nothing on the subject. Mr. Macandrew has been returned for Port Chalmers and Blueskin by a majority of over 100. The Government telegraph libel case was further postponed. A rule nisi had been applied for at Dunedin, calling on Messrs. Driver and Macandrew to show cause why a criminal information should not be filed against them, but the case was postponed, as was also the libel case of Driver v. Dick. Anthony Noble, the coloured man who was found guilty of the murder of the little girl at Malumby some weeks ago, was executed at Hokitika on February 16. He made a full confession, bearing out the medical testimony at the trial. The manufacture of ice had commenced at Auckland, being the first time that it had been made in the colony to any extent.

ABSTRACT OF SALES BY AUCTION THIS DAY.

G. KISS.—At the Bazaar, at 11, Horses, Vehicles, Harness, Saddlery, &c.; on the Albert Ground, at 3, the Right to Refreshment Booths.

HARRISON, JONES, AND DEVLIN.—At Dawson and Co.'s Yards, Pitt-street, at 11, Lambs.

BRADLEY, NEWTON, AND LAMB.—At their Rooms, at 11, Household Furniture, Pianofortes, Books, Envelopes, &c.

A. MOORE AND CO.—At their Mart, at 11, Household Furniture and Effects, Watches, Drapery, Clothing, Tweed, &c.

MARAVILLA COCOA.—For Breakfast.—The GLOBE says "various importers and manufacturers have attempted to attain a reputation for their prepared cocoas; but we doubt whether any thorough success had been achieved until Messrs. Taylor Brothers discovered the extraordinary qualities of 'Maravilla' Cocoa. Adapting their perfect system of preparation to this finest of all species of the Theobroma, they have produced an article which supersedes every other cocoa in the market. Entire solubility, a delicate aroma, and a rare concentration of the purest elements of nutrition distinguish the Maravilla cocoa above all others. For homœopaths and invalids we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable beverage." Sold in packets only by all grocers, of whom also may be had Taylor Brothers' Original Homœopathic Cocoa and Soluble Chocolate, Steam Mills—Brick-lane, London.—ADV

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL.—Hospital, dispensary, and private practice all furnish innumerable cases in which Dr. de Jongh's Oil has been administered with the happiest results in consumption and all diseases of the chest. No remedy so rapidly restores the exhausted strength, improves the nutritive functions, stops or diminishes emaciation, checks the perspiration, quiets the cough and expectoration, or produces a more marked and favourable influence on the local malady. Sold only in capsuled imperial half-pints, pints, and quarts, by all chemists, druggists, and storekeepers. Sole consignees, Ansar, Harford, and Co., 77, Strand, London.—ADV.

WE are requested to call attention to Bradley, Newton, and Lamb's sale this day, at their Rooms, Pitt-street, of valuable library of books, elegant household furniture, pianofortes, glass paintings, deed envelopes, &c, &c., commencing at 11 o'clock.—ADV.

COMMERCIAL.

PRODUCE CIRCULARS.

MORT AND CO.—Wool and Sheepskins: We held no sale this week, and consequently have nothing to report. Tallow: The high rates of freight on shipments to London have caused a slackness in this market, and at our sale this afternoon we were compelled to buy in the principal parcels on our catalogue. Quotations—Mutton, £34 to £35; beef, £30 to £33 10s; mixed, £26 10s to £32. Hides were in large supply this morning, but the demand for well-cured parcels was quite equal to recent quotations. We quitted over 900 at from 12s to 16s for light; 17s 9d to 22s 6d for medium to heavy; and 23s to 25s for extra weights. Coconnut Oil: We sold a parcel to-day at £28 10s per tun. Produce Sale.—Hides: FD, 1 at 4s 9d, 1 at 11s 3d; N, 1 at 9s 9d; 2 at 11s 3d; GCo., 12 at 15s 6d; GS, 6 at 19s 9d; EG, 7 at 21s 9d, 12 at 16s; yearlings, 5 at 5s; JC, 28 at 16s; APD, 29 at 17s 9d; G, 32 at 16s; P in circle, 51 at 19s 6d, lot at 22s 3d; 40 at 16s 6d; SG, 21 at 20s 3d; G, 31 at 20s 3d; W, 38 at 22s 6d; FD, 29 at 17s 3d; MMC, 20 at 17s 9d; SG, 25 at 17s 3d; JN, 14 at 20s 3d; Pink tape, 19 at 21s 9d, 21 at 16s 9d; MMC, 15 at 21s 9d; TCT, 6 at 12s; B&C, 7 at 11s 9d, 2 at 5s; H, 31 at 18s 6d; JN, 25 at 17s 6d, 22 at 22s; WB, 28 at 20s 6d, 17 at 23s, 27 at 21s, 18 at 23s 6d; B, 10 at 12s 3d, 26 at 18s; H, 12 at 12s; C, 13 at 14s 6d, 17 calfskins at 2s 3d; C, 1 hide at 12s 6d; 2 calfskins at 6d; WB, 10 hides 21s 3d; C, 17 at 16s 9d; 16 at 20s; P, 10 at 20s 3d; lot at 16s; C, 30 at 17s; 28 at 15s 6d; 2 calfskins at 3s 6d, 21 at 20s 3d, 15 at 25s, 8 at 22s 3d, 5 at 11s 3d. JOHN A. TURNER.—Wool: The market has been less favourably affected by the satisfactory nature of English advices than might have been anticipated, but this week's sales resulted in a fair amount of business at a trifling advance in some cases on previous quotations. Some of the better class of clips were withdrawn, prices not reaching owner's reserves. Sheepskins: A fair supply; steady demand; prices ruled in favour of vendors. Tallow: Freights being unobtainable, the bulk of that offered was held over till next sales. Hides: Brisk competition for all but inferior parcels. Tanners are still operating freely, and prices show an upward tendency. Leather: I had a large catalogue which I cleared at full current rates. Sole is taken readily, notwithstanding the advance in freights. Cordovan and tweed are inquired for, but only in small parcels. My sales resulted as follows:—Wool: A, 1 bale mixed at 9¼d; PPW, 3 scoured at 13d, ditto 1 locks at 9½d; WK, 4 fleece at 12¼d; EW, 7 ditto at 12¼d; B in circle, 14 ditto at 11¼d, ditto 1 mixed at 5¼d, ditto 2 skirts at 7½d; M in diamond over Wando, 11 greasy at 5¼d, ditto 1 pieces at 3d, ditto 1 mixed at 4½d; MX, 63 fleece at 11½d, ditto 6 ditto (damaged) at 10½d, ditto 4 pieces at 6¾d, ditto 1 ditto (damaged) at 5¼d; SN, 1 bag broken fleece at 7½d; N, 2 ditto greasy at 3¼d; EW, 1 ditto mixed at 6¼d; GE over D, 1 ditto at 6¾d. Sheepskins: CJ, 2 bales at 4d; AP, 1 lot at 2d, 44 bales at 4½d; PPW, 1 ditto at 3d; HP, 1 ditto pelts at 1¼d; TW over N, 1 ditto skins at 4½d; N, 2 ditto at 4¼d, B in circle, 1 ditto at 4¼d, 8 ditto at 3d, 5 ditto at 3d; TL, 1 lot at 4d; OH, 1 ditto at 4¾d. Tallow: L, 1 cask station at 26s 6d; CJ, 1 case ditto at 29s 9d; ditto, 2 ditto at 29s 9d. Hides: 1 at 22s 6d; CJ, 6 at 25s; ditto, 33 at 22s; SB, 10 at 13s 3d; B, 11 at 14s 3d; L, 16 at 18s; E, 17 at 14s 6d; S, 10 at 13s 9d; TW, 40 at 18s 6d; ditto, 40 at 17s 9d; TC, 13 at 13s 6d; B, 11, at 18s 6d; ditto, 24 at 15s 3d; C, 9 at 14s 9d; D, 23 at 16s 3d; E, 3 at 10s 9d; TT, 14 at 13s 6d; white cross, 46 at 20s 9d; white rag, 30 at 19s 3d; ditto, 6 at 11s 9d; P in diamond, 37 at 16s 3d; TJ, 27 at 16s; H in square, 9 at 11s 3d; CC, 2 at 13s 3d; HxH, 34 at 18s 6d, 1 at 16s 6d; RN, 21 at 18s 6d; A, 10 at 20s, ditto 15 at 18s, 8 at 8s; 1 calfskin at 2s 3d, 10 ditto at 5s 7d, 5 ditto at 4s 5d, 4 ditto at 4s 2d, 2 ditto at 4s 9d, 3 ditto at 4s 1d, 3 ditto at 4s 4d, 2 ditto at 4s 4d, 1 ditto at 4s 6d, 2 at 2s 6d, 2 at 3s 1d, 18 at 2s 6d, 2 yearling at 6s 9d, 9 ditto at 7s 6d, 2 horse hides at 7s 9d, 5 ditto, at 6s 3d. Hair: 1 bale at 6¾d, 1 bag at 16¾d, 1 ditto at 12¾d. Leather: 21 sides kip at 11¼d, 17 ditto at 11¼d, 3 bales ditto at 16d, 4 ditto ditto at 15d, 3 ditto ditto at 15d, 2 ditto ditto at 17½d, 4 ditto ditto at 16¾d, 3 ditto ditto at 15¼d, 25 sides sole at 7¼d, 30 ditto ditto at 8d, 4 bales ditto at 7¼d, 4 ditto ditto at 7¼d, 40 sides ditto at 8¼d, 40 ditto ditto at 8¼d, 40 ditto ditto at 8¼d, 40 ditto ditto at 8¼d, 40 ditto ditto at 8¾d, 2 bales ditto (damaged) at 3d, 1 ditto ditto at 6½d, 1 ditto ditto at 7½d, 60 sides sole at 8½d, 40 ditto ditto at 8½d, 21 ditto ditto at 8½d, 3 bales ditto at 7½d, 3 ditto ditto at 8¼d, 5 ditto sole pieces at 4¼d, 4 ditto cordovan at 2s 1d, 1 roll harness at 9½d, 2 ditto ditto at 11½d, 4 ditto ditto at 12¼d, 3 ditto ditto at 11½d, 2 ditto black ditto at 11¼d, 25 dozen basils at 5s, 36 ditto ditto at 5s 7d, 4 bales calf at 2s 10d, 4 ditto ditto at 2s 10d, 2 ditto ditto at 3s 1d, 1 ditto kangaroo at 3s 10d, 1 ditto yearling at 20¼d, 1 ditto bag at 13s 8d.—March 3.

IRWIN AND CO.—Wool: The sales of this day at the Chamber of Commerce were hardly so brisk as those of last week's, the biddings throughout, although showing no difference in price, were languid, manifesting a disinclination on the part of buyers to do business. Our catalogue comprised the usual assortment, which were cleared at full rates. Quotations—scoured, 1s to 1s 6d; handwashed, 10d to 1s 1d; superior clips, 1s 2d to 1s 4d; fair ditto, 11d to 1s 1d; inferior ditto, 8d to 10d; locks and pieces, half-price. Sheepskins are in good request, and, as is usual with this class of produce, all offering were taken for working into skin wools. Quotations—full growth, 4d to 5¼d; medium, 2¼d to 3¼d; shorts and pelts, 1d to 2d per lb. Tallow is without alteration in value, prices at the present time being ruled by the rate of freight. Quotations—mutton, 34s 6d to 36s; beef, 33s to 34s; station, 26s to 33s. Hides continue much the same as when last reported, tanners taking all offering. The catalogues for this day showed an increase of supply, but not in sufficient quantity to affect the price. One parcel of dry salted station realised at our sales 5¼d per lb.; other lots in proportion to weight and cure. Quotations—cured and heavy, 18s to 24s; small and light, 12s to 17s; inferior, 9s to 11s. Leather: Kip was in good supply, but in heavy condition. Sole was cleared at full rates; harness, &c., in good demand and scarce. Quotations—calf, 2s 6d to 3s 3d; kip, 1s 2d to 1s 8d; harness, 11d to 1s 2d; sole, 8d to 9¼d. Our sales resulted as follows:—Wool: DBo over MC, fleece, 8 bales at 10½d; ditto, locks, 1 at 6d; JBL, fleece, 17 at 14d; ditto, 3rds, 5 at 10½d; mixed ditto, 1 at 10d; pieces ditto, 3 at 8½d; grease, DBo in square over CH, 15 at 6½d; locks, ditto, 2 at 4d; JT, greasy, 2 at 5½d; JK over O, greasy, 3 at 6½d; locks, ditto, 1 at 3d. Sheepskins: MT over diamond, 2 bales at 4½d; JH, 3 ditto at 4½d; DBo in square, SB outside, 8 ditto at 4½d; pelts, L, 1 lot at 1½d; HR conjoined, 4 bales at 4½d; DBo over EHL, 3 ditto at 4½d; MT over triangle, 6 ditto at 4½d; HR conjoined, 7 ditto at 3½d per lb. Hides: 4 at 11s 3d, 25 at 11s 3d, 61 at 20s 3d, 18 at 12s 6d, 55 at 17s 9d, 4 at 19s 9d, 65 at 19s 9d, 49 (damaged) at 15s 6d; 85 at 14s 9d, 47 at 17s, 53 at 18s 9d, 57 at 21s 9d. Leather: 4 bales sole at 8d, 3 ditto ditto at 8½d, 4 ditto ditto (damaged) at 6½d, 4 ditto ditto at 8½d; kip, 1 bale at 1s 2½d, 3 bales at 1s 2½d, 3 ditto at 1s 3d, 4 ditto at 1s 3½d, 4 ditto at 1s 3½d, 3 ditto at 1s 3d; calf, 3 ditto at 2s 7d, 2 ditto at 2s 4d per lb.; strap, 1 bale at 11s 10d per side.—March 3rd.

STOCK AND STATION REPORTS.

BREWSTER AND TREBECK.—Stations: We have to report more animation in the market for pastoral properties. Where the stations can be shown to give profitable returns, capitalists are ready to invest, and although fattening cattle stations are still sought after the most, yet we observe a better disposition to buy sheep-runs not too far away. On Wednesday, the 1st instant, we sold by auction the Carwell station, in the Bligh district, with 14,000 sheep, at 6s 11d per head, stores and sundries at a valuation; terms as usual. Store Cattle: The demand still continues, and for good bullocks the price remains at 60s to 65s, on Northern stations at £4 10s to £4 15s, if delivered about the Murrumbidgee. We have sold 300 bullocks (New England, three years and over), at 65s; 500 Queensland, two to six years, at 60s; 600 mixed cattle (Queensland) at 37s 6d. Store sheep: For good-framed wethers and dry ewes for fattening, the demand is good. The former are worth 5s to 6s, according to the place of delivery; and the latter, 4s to 5s; inferior and mixed lots from 3s to 4s 6d. We have sold 10,000 New England sheep, half-wethers, and half-ewes at 5s per head.—March 3.

HARRISON, JONES, AND DEVLIN.—Stations: This week we have but little to notice under this head. Fat Cattle: A large supply brought forward this week, which coupled with a rather large number left on hand from last week, caused a decline of fully 10s per head. The averages of those sold through the yards will be found as follows, viz.—185 head at £5 3s 6d; 110 head at £4 18s; 180 head at £4 1s 5d; 80 head at £5 1s; 128 head at £5. Fat Sheep: Market fully supplied with medium quality sheep, prime, are in request, command top figures, but are in very limited supply. We sold 1074 ewes, S. Scholey, at 6s 3d to 7s. Store Cattle: These continue in good and increasing demand, and if of suitable ages and description, and at all accessible, are readily salable at quotations. Store Sheep: But little activity is as yet shown in this market, we look, however, for an improvement in a week or two. We have one or two lots travelling towards market, which are worthy of the attenton of buyers.—March 3.

G. M. PITT.—Fat Cattle: A slight improvement has taken place in this market, not much difference in last week's prices, but competition has been brisker, and sales have a firmer tone. I quote best cattle worth from 14s to 15s per 100 lbs., according to weight. My sales have been—120 mixed, Hall's, at £5 4s; 41 ditto culls, Dight and Yeoman's, at £4 11s 6d; 74 bullocks, Cox's, at £5 3s; 55 cows, Fitzgerald's, at £4 4s; 77 bullocks, Lamb and Trail's, at £5 12s 6d; 167 mixed, Hoskinson's, at £5 11s. Fat Sheep: A heavy supply to hand this week, and prices are a little easier, there are several large flocks close to market, and unless our boiling establishments get actively at work we are likely to have a reduction on present rates. My sales have been—1270 wethers (Lamb and Trail's), 1318 wethers (Doyle's), at 6s 10d; 1208 wethers (Turner's), at 8s 6d; 655 ewes (ditto), at 5s 6d; 1618 wethers (Adam's), at 8s 6d; 1200 wethers, very prime, at 9s 9d.—March 3.

S. T. MACKENZIE, Campbelltown, reports the sale of 120 head of cattle, comprising milch cows, springers, weaners, calves, and fat cattle. The attendance was good, and every lot was cleared out at satisfactory prices, milch cows making up to £5; springers, £4 10s; weaners, 40s; calves, 21s 6d; and fat cows, good but light weights, at £3 17s 6d a head. The auctioneer would draw attention to the central situation of Campbelltown; and, if monthly sales were held, and fat cattle sent, the butchers would attend, and a regular business might be done in the sale of mobs of cattle. Paddocks would be provided by the auctioneer for the reception of stock consigned for sale, free of charge.—March 3.

GEORGE KISS.—There is a good demand for really superior horses, but no doubt the demand for such arises from their scarcity. There are from 150 to 200 horses offered at the bazaar every week, but a very small portion of that number are worthy of notice. The following may be taken as about the standard rate for stock:—Carriage pairs from £40 to £80 or £100; well-bred stylish hacks and light harness horses from £20 to £30; first-class draught stock, from £18 to £25; second quality horses range from £1 to £15. Unbroken Stock: Three mobs of unbroken stock have been disposed of this week. The first on Monday on account of Mr. E. Cobcroft, at an average of £5 10s; the second mob on account of Mr. Neich, at an average of £3; and the third mob on account of Mr. Dennis, at low rates, they being inferior.—March 3.

SYDNEY LABOUR MARKET.

WILLIAM BROWN.—The large attendance of men servants applying for town and country situations enables employers of labour to obtain the hands they require with facility. The most numerous class of applicants consists of men requiring city and suburban employment as gardeners, grooms, porters, generally useful men, &c. There is also a tolerably good supply of farm and dairy servants, shepherds and bushmen. Dairy servants, gardeners, and grooms are in moderate demand; for most other classes of men servants the inquiry is limited. Some additions to the present insufficient supply of female servants may be shortly expected. Rates of wages are unaltered.—March 3.

AFFLICTED UMBRELLAS.—When the sun shines, be advised to carry an umbrella; when it rains, do as you like! The value of the thing is best known by the want of it; this is especially true of umbrellas. Illustrious wayfarer.—Do you rejoice in the possession of an athletic umbrella? In as much as it is a provident investment, this is an important question. Or has the destroying hand of time and usage reduced it to the condition of inutility and abandonment? Is it dilapidated? Is it prostrate with a fractured rib, a dislocated neck, or a broken spine? Has any unexpected calamity tended to debilitate its nerves, or paralyse its muscularia? Is it afflicted with a damaged crenated attachment, or a ruptured vertical convergentum? Has any visitation or paralysis arrested or destroyed the facile action of the motive power? Does there exist any manifestation of an abrasion, or inaccurate tension of the epidermis? Is the tippeous extension of the epidermis unimpaired in its attachment? Is the pedaneous extremity intact, or has prolonged attrition against terraceous substances reduced it to a state of stumpiferous deformity? Is the digitarial appendage without flaw or fracture? Is the occluse and expansive action uninterrupted? Is the octahegenous osseosity insometrically angulated? Is its centrifugal rotundity undeformed by depression, semi-collapse, or protrusion? Is its polehedral conformation correct, and its circumambient proportions adequate for personal conservation? Is it loaned, lost, levanted, misappropriated, or used up? Are its mineralogical, vegetable, and animal elements still in combination, or is it "up the spout?"

HOW AMIENS TREATED THE WOUNDED.—The Daily News correspondent, writing from Amiens under date December 1, says:—"I can state authoritatively that the number of French wounded now lying in the various villages of Villiers, Bretonneux, Cachy, Boves, Dury, &c., as the result of the three days' fighting, is about 1000. The manner in which the rich and proud capital of Picardy has treated its wounded soldiers will remain a lasting reflection on the inhabitants as patriots, as well as disgraceful to their humanity. The municipal committee for succouring the wounded, some ten chief citizens, never made any serious preparation. They kept snugly within doors. They had an official list, duly stamped by the Prefet, of houses where the wounded could be accommodated. This was, I fear, but a mere pretext for their friends to gain the protection of the Red Flag for their mansions, as the outhouses set apart for the wounded were invariably almost unfit for pigs. The French doctors joined the troops in the stampede, and the two brave gentlemen who remained were deserted by their assistants, who had carried off their instruments at the same time. It was the peasantry and Prussian soldiery who picked up the French wounded—the Germans had done all that was necessary for their own; it was the English ambulance that supplied what the French wanted—everything—wine, food, medicine, clothing. Amiens, to its shame, attended to its self-interest only. The peasantry, amidst their smoking and falling cottages, charitably carried off the wounded. In one place, thirty-seven soldiers, dreadfully cut up, lay in a bare cottage, a drop of water and less brandy being their only relief for two days. These were men in whose limbs you could feel the rifle balls, and so they had to remain on bare floors till medical assistance was beaten up, and then there were no amputating instruments except those the English International Society provided, to whose care the town of Amiens was only too happy to leave the wounded soldiers. If it were not for the superhuman exertions of the brave gentlemen in charge of this depot, who so nobly threw themselves into the work of humanity, these 1000 poor Frenchmen would have been left to writhe and fester away like dogs till death ended their miseries. The English Society's doctors—Leslie and Goodenough—were for days the only gentlemen whose professional services were available, and I believe it is to the exertions of this Society that some hundreds of these poor Frenchmen have been rescued from death. A few civilian doctors arrived in course of time from Amiens, and some military medical gentlemen turned up, but instead of setting to work they commenced a quarrel on a point of etiquette. The Jews would have no dealings with the Samaritans. Meantime there lay hundreds of men on the cold floors, nothing in the way of bedding or bed clothes, lying as they were placed days previously when carried off the field, and no aid except that the English Society's limited stores supplied; Amiens ate and drank all the same."

MR. GLADSTONE'S MINISTRY IN DANGER.

(From the Spectator.)

WHENEVER Parliament meets, whether it be in February—as we fear—or on the 17th of January, the day to which it now stands prorogued—as we would fain hope—the Ministry will become conscious of a changed atmosphere, one heavier, hotter, more charged with electricity than that in which for two sessions they have moved so easily. The recess has not been favourable to their prospects. The Cabinet has not changed much, though one prominent member is dead, and another has resigned; but the work of its chiefs has changed, and they are less suited to the new task than to the old. Mr Gladstone's Government was intended to be a kind of ideal Government for a peaceful time—a Government that should reform and retrench, and in certain departments build; that should conciliate Ireland and enlarge national education and liberalise the Universities and remodel the bureaus and reduce the taxes; and all these things it has done, and done so well that, had circumstances not changed, Mr. Gladstone might have met an approving or placid House, content to register his suggestions without over much even of discussion. The discontent in the ranks of the extreme Liberals, though perceptible last year, and greatly increased by the blunder of appointing Lord Halifax to the vacant seat in the Cabinet, would not have mattered much, for they have no sufficient leader, and their opposition, whenever it became serious, always attracted Tory votes. There was plenty of work to do of a kind the Cabinet was sure to do well, and there was nearly a certainty of one of those mighty surpluses which are accepted in a commercial State as proof that internal administration has been, on the whole, successful. The Continental war destroyed all those prospects to an extent of which we expect the Ministry have as yet but little idea. It increased, as it happened, the popular feeling in favour of education, the conquering Power being one which had encouraged instruction; but in every other department of effort it changed the whole kind of work, and even the kind of official tone demanded of the Government by the people. Economy seems almost contemptible when expenditure is so necessary. Instead of wise internal measures, the people wish for vigorous foreign action; instead of reductions, they ask for soldiers; instead of elaborate plans of far-reaching improvement, they long in their hearts for sudden, intelligible, and daring resolves. The Cabinet, it must be confessed by its friends, is by no means so fitted to deal with the new as with the old conditions of success. Its chief, though his marvellous intellect may yet adapt itself to the change in the aspect of all public affairs—to a change in the object of politics which may last for years, has never displayed any one of the qualities which make up a great War Minister, knows little of foreign politics, detests the idea of war, exaggerates to folly Lamartine's theory that "opinion is the executive force of the nineteenth century," and is suspected—we believe on inadequate grounds—of want of sympathy with the English resolve to be great among the nations of the world. He has shrunk, not only from leading action, but from leading opinion upon the war; has preferred a weakly-wise reticence upon the whole subject to the frank and stimulating expression of feeling by which Lord Palmerston would have defined and strengthened the position of the country. His War Minister is the least original member of his Government, the man from whom the country would least expect a swift and a great extension of its visible resources. Mr. Cardwell has great capacities, it may be, but they are not of the kind which, were Great Britain threatened, would make all her children brave. His new Foreign Minister, though by no means a failure, by no means completely answers public expectation. He may yet show himself to have been far more determined than the world knows, but the effect of his action as yet has been to create an impression that the British Ministry knows how to retreat in a highly-dignified manner. Dignified retreating may be most wise, we are not discussing that; but dignified retreating before a most truculent foe, before a statesman who thinks nothing achieved unless it has been achieved by fear, is not the attitude which the average Briton loves. There is a restless impatience of it among very quiet people, among people disposed to believe that Government knows best, and quite philosophical enough to retreat, if only quite sure that retreat is a strategic movement, and not a simple running away. The tone even of Liberals is becoming querulous at the want of dignity in the Government. And should the great scheme for increasing our military strength prove to be a little scheme, or Mr. Lowe talk too much about the importance of pennies, or the Government again recede when insulted by a military power, the querulousness may become rage, which, in spite of the immense majority yielded by the elections, may become most formidable to the Administration. Mr. Gladstone must not depend too much upon the opinions of his colleagues, or even upon those of prominent members of Parliament. He cannot have more support of that kind than Lord Palmerston had for his Conspiracy Bill, the opposition to which pulverised a strong Government in a week, and arose, as it were, spontaneously outside the political circles altogether. The "country" would not have it, whatever the consequences, and the Government went down like a ship in a calm. We seriously believe there is risk, imminent risk, of a similar catastrophe: that the country desires the Government to arm; that it suspects the Cabinet of an intention to evade its demand; and that if the suspicion is justified, the ironclad will be on the rocks at once. It is not danger from Germany, or Russia, or America, that is feared, for the people still retain even too much confidence in the fleet; it is the want of influence, of respect throughout the world, which creates a disaffection all the more profound because its origin is so obscure, and its object so vague. There is a vote of want of confidence in Mr. Gladstone as helmsman for a stormy time being passed silently through England, and unless that vote can be recalled or cancelled, it will be more fatal than any vote of the House of Commons. Statesmen smile very justly at noisy meetings of nobodies held in Trafalgar-square, but these meetings are symptoms of an unrest, a dissatisfaction which, though it may be as yet only dissatisfaction, reaches far higher in the electorate than the attorney who just now makes himself the mouthpiece of the mob. The desire is not for war—many of the most discontented are most anxious to avoid war—nor is there any scheme of military reform which has caught, or is likely to catch, the public fancy; but there is a deep, half-angry longing for a Government which shall be strong abroad, which "can give Bismark as good as he brings," upon which allies can implicitly depend, and which must be treated in every Cabinet of Europe as an equal power.

BISMARCK AND THE REGENCY OF THE EX-EMPRESS.

THE Independant des Basses Pyrenees publishes the following article:—"A letter from Commissary Baudin has partially raised the veil of mystery surrounding the negotiations preceding the capitulation of Metz, and a letter which we have received from Madrid reveals the whole matter. This communication is as follows:—Immediately after the capitulation of Sedan and the proclamation of the Republic, Count Bismark submitted to the ex-Empress the draft of a treaty on the following basis:—

'The cession of Strasbourg and of a part of Alsace; the razing of Metz; the abdication of Napoleon III., and the establishment of the Regency of the Empress—the treaty to be ratified by the Senate and the Legislative Body, which were to be convoked at Amiens. The army of the Rhine to leave Metz with arms and baggage, but with the condition not to serve against Germany during three months. In the eventuality, held to be very improbable, that the Senate and the Legislative Body would not have sanctioned the treaty of peace, Marshal Bazaine and his army were to protect the meeting of the Chamber at Amiens, and re-establish order at Lyons, Marseilles, Toulouse, &c. Lastly, and notwithstanding the armistice, the German army was to invest Paris, and by famine to reduce the population to submission who had proclaimed and organised the Republic. That draft, approved by the Emperor, was communicated to Marshal Bazaine, who gave his adhesion to it, but stipulated for such large powers for himself, and of such a character, that the Regency, or rather Dictatorship would really have belonged to Marshal Bazaine rather than to the Empress.

'The provisional adhesion of Marshal Bazaine was brought to Versailles by General Boyer, and the conditions made by Marshal Bazaine were accepted at Versailles; and General Boyer left for England with the object of obtaining the signature of the Empress Regent to a treaty already drawn up, that formality being all that was wanted to conclude the negotiation. During thirty-six hours the Empress firmly refused to put her signature to the document; but very late in the night, overcome by fatigue and exhaustion, she acceded to the strenuous solicitations of those surrounding her, and signed the treaty. General Boyer and the Bonapartist personages who were there to exercise that pressure she had been unable to resist immediately took leave of her. The Empress, left alone to her own reflections, repented having signed the treaty; and learning, in the morning, that General Boyer had not yet taken his departure, she sent for him, and again asked to look at the treaty, under the pretext, it is said, of rectifying a mistake in the copy she had kept. General Boyer gave it to her, and she then tore it in pieces, and dismissed the general. General Boyer returned to Metz, and the capitulation took place two days after his return. During these negociations Marshal Bazaine had abstained from making any serious attempt to break the blockade, and had exhausted all his provisions, fearing that, should the army suffer from want of food, his popularity would have been diminished—a popularity he was desirous of preserving in view of the anticipated Dictatorship.'"

The writer of this communication says that the above facts have been well authenticated in Madrid, and adds that the change of resolution on the part of the Empress, after having signed the treaty, was caused by mistrust of Bazaine's character, because of his well-known ambition, and of the care he had taken to stipulate for such exorbitant powers for himself. The Empress is reported to have said:—"I have just brought dishonour upon myself, without any profit whatever, for Bazaine would very soon expel me again, with my son, and keep the whole power to himself."

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION NEAR BIRMINGHAM.

(From the Birmingham Daily Post.)

ON Friday morning, December 9th, an explosion occurred in the cartridge manufactory of Messrs. Ludlow Brothers, Witton, near Birmingham, which, for the loss of life arising from it, is almost without a parallel in the annals of such accidents. The site of Messrs. Ludlow's works is a low-lying field, bounded on one side by a railway embankment, and fenced off on the others from neighbouring fields and from the main road, Witton-lane, which at this point, some 3½ miles from Birmingham, passes under the railway. On this patch of ground stood some nineteen substantial wooden stalls, averaging about 40 feet long by 20 feet wide, and separated from each other by intervals of from 10 to 20 yards. The interior arrangements of these sheds may be said to consist generally of wooden benches, running round the walls, and narrow tables disposed longitudinally in couples on each side of the centre, which is left free for locomotion. It is in the centre that the heating stove is usually placed; and that was its position in the "shop" or shed where the recent explosion originated. This latter shed, technically known as the "Enfield loading shop," and used for completing the "loading" of the cartridges—the most dangerous part of the manufacturing process—stood at a distance of some 80 or 90 feet from the road fence. About 10 yards from this, in an oblique direction, was another shed used for charging the cartridges with powder, and some 17 yards farther off was a third shed, appropriated to a similar purpose. In the three sheds there probably were employed altogether about 100 persons, chiefly women and girls, and of these scarcely any escaped without injuries more or less serious. At the moment of the explosion, the manager or overseer of the works was quitting a magazine in another part of the field, and had just stepped out of the door, when he saw a dazzling sheet of flame shoot out from beneath the Enfield shop, which was immediately rent asunder with a deafening roar. In a minute the wreck was a mass of fire, and the blazing fragments by the force of the explosion were scattered far and wide. Some of them apparently fell upon the neighbouring "shop," which must have been partially burst in by the force of the concussion, as it exploded almost instantaneously under the shower of live sparks from the first shed, and in its turn communicated the fire to shed No. 3. The most destructive of the three explosions was the first, in which, out of some 25 workmen, 17 were killed on the spot, or devoured by the flames in view of the spectators, without a chance of rescue. From the other two sheds the workpeople for the most part contrived to scramble out, unaided, burnt, blackened, bleeding, and blinded, but still alive—many of the poor women who staggered out moaning and shrieking into the road, where they fell down, but scarcely a strip of clothing left on them, and the ground for yards around was strewed with the burnt and tattered and blood-stained fragments of female dress. Help was, happily, soon at hand, both from the neighbouring works of Messrs. Kynoch and from the houses in the road, and in an incredibly short space of time no less than fifty-three women and girls whose injuries demanded medical treatment were removed in cabs and cars to the general hospital. Seventeen others who had been engaged in the Enfield loading shop were burnt almost to cinders, and their charred remains were moved to neighbouring premises to await identification.

THE SCENE AT THE HOSPITAL.

The scene at the hospital is described as heartrending. The clothes of several, which hung about them in tatters, were still smouldering; all, without exception, were burned in the face, hands, and head; their faces and heads were swollen to twice the usual size, the only feature of the face recognisable being the mouth; the nose and eyes were completely covered up by the swollen cheeks. The hair—that beautiful ornament of womanhood—was all singed from off their heads, and bare blackened scalps presented themselves. Broken and burned limbs, flesh wounds, contused burns, powder driven into the skin by the explosion were among the casualties demanding attention. The wounded cried for water. Milk, brandy, coffee, and stimulants of all kinds were liberally administered to assist the rallying powers; and, so ample are the resources of the General Hospital for any great emergency, to the everlasting honour of the management, be it said, in less than one hour from the time the alarm was given, the whole fifty-four patients had their wounds dressed, were carefully tended, and quietly placed in beds in different wards of the building. Some were perfectly unconscious of the world of pain and sorrow that surrounded them; others were wildly delirious, shouting for their mother, father, brothers, and sisters; others called upon God to relieve them from their miserable sufferings—one woman, in particular, kept repeating, "Oh Jesus, save us!" "Oh, dear, I'm dying," moaned one; "Oh doctor, shall I die, shall I get well?" asked another. All this while the Rev. Mr. Williams, chaplain to the hospital, and two Roman Catholic priests, were moving about the wards administering those consolations which religion alone can give to the afflicted. Two sisters—both fearfully injured—who were placed in beds in different wards—implored that they should be brought near to each other, and the nurses humanely complied with their wishes. Soothing draughts were freely administered by the medical staff; then followed a period of quietness, broken now and then by wild shrieks and deep groans. So great was the agony of some that draught after draught had to be given before the required effect was produced. As may be readily imagined, the scenes at the bedsides of the [illegible] were painful in the extreme, and it was with difficulty the officers could perform their duty in clearing the hospital of strangers when the allotted time for visiting had expired. After 7 o'clock none but the relatives of those cases considered dangerous to life were suffered to remain. The sight of parents and friends comforted the sufferers, and many dropped off into a quiet sleep, and it was surprising with what fortitude several of these poor girls bore up, although suffering the most acute pain. At midnight, relays of nurses and dressers were procured; and fresh dressings and fresh sedatives were required from time to time during the weary hours of the night. Many of the patients passed the night peacefully; others tossed themselves wildly in their beds, and groaned and moaned, and beseeched the attendants to give them water, or to moisten their lips; and during the night two more fellow-creatures were taken away to that home where suffering and sorrow are known no more. Between 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning, the medical gentlemen were suddenly called to Anne Conway, a young woman of nineteen. In her agony, poor creature, she had given birth to a child—it was dead. Shortly afterwards the surgeon was summoned to another of the sufferers. She also was delivered of a child—dead. Both these women are represented as in a very precarious state. Several others of the wounded are within a few months of their confinement, and their cases are watched with much anxiety by the surgeons. In all, six out of the fifty-four admitted died before Saturday afternoon. On Saturday, Anne Anson, a married woman, had her leg amputated; so fearfully was it fractured that the limb could not be saved. This as yet is the only case of amputation. A remarkable circumstance is related in connection with the case. The woman's husband, who was working at Stourbridge, dreamed on Thursday night that he saw his wife on fire. The dream haunting him on Friday, he determined to run over to Birmingham, and just arrived in time to hear of the terrible calamity in which his wife was a sufferer.

THE IDENTIFICATION OF BODIES BY RELATIVES.

Nothing could have been more distressing than to see, throughout Saturday, those who had friends and relatives missing come to the sheds in the factory, or to the Whitton Arms, with the view of ascertaining, the fate of and identifying, if possible, the beloved ones. As may be supposed, the work of identification was one of extreme difficulty. It was hardly possible to conceive that the shapeless masses lying huddled up on the benches were the bodies of human beings; and in the majority of instances it was found impossible, even for the sharp and curious eye of love, to find any clue which would have served to tell who they were and to whom they were kin. At least one case occurred in which a body was claimed by two different persons. One of the women employed at the factory was Mrs. Butler, of Erdington, a young mother of two children, the youngest but an infant. She is missing, and as she is not in the hospital, is doubtless amongst the dead. Her husband attended on Saturday morning, and was shown the remains at the Witton Arms. In one of the corpses he thought—he felt sure—he recognised his poor wife, on the faith of a fragment of stocking the same as those she had worn. Subsequently, however, two young women claimed the same remains as those of Maria Brown, of 26, Thomas-street. Their clue to her identity seemed the most satisfactory from its being somewhat more detailed. They recognised a piece of tartan, the same as the dress Brown had worn, and they stated that she had been wearing a piece of red flannel round the neck, because of having had a cold. There was a piece of red flannel round the neck of this dead woman, and this was held to be conclusive. One particularly painful case came under our notice. A man named David Smith, living in Garrison-lane, came to look for the body of his daughter Harriet. He recognised in a button on a fragment of clothing that still adhered to one of the corpses a peculiarity which convinced him that he saw the remains of his daughter, she having worn buttons of that kind on her dress. It appeared that the poor girl had gone to work at the factory without her father's knowledge or consent. He discovered this only the day before the explosion, and intended forbidding her to pursue so dangerous an occupation. Among the killed are the wife and daughter of a man named Woodman, who on Saturday undertook the painful duty of endeavouring to search out their remains. He identified the headless trunk of his wife by means of a belt she wore when alive; in none of the other bodies could he recognise his daughter. Margaret Owen, a wife, and only 18 years of age, was identified by her husband from her dress. In every corpse every human lineament was obliterated so far as the face was concerned, and it was only by means of rings, or earrings, or buttons which had escaped destruction that any conclusion as to identity could be come to.

THE LUDICROUS AND THE HORRIBLE OF THE WAR.

THE correspondent of the Times, in a letter describing one of the recent sorties from Paris, says:—"I saw regiments advancing firmly, and even coolly, under the full fire of batteries, every volley of which told with murderous effect upon them, and even the retreating regiment, which I happened to be near when it fell back, was retiring in perfect order. All this was in the open, but, on the other hand, I am bound as a veracious historian to state that in the woods and the village (Champigny) I saw more shirking than was pardonable, even in young troops. Perhaps there is something demoralising in proximity to cover, or possibly it may be peculiarly trying to the nerves to have shot and shell poured in upon you when you are so placed that you cannot even see from what quarter they come, and have no chance of retaliating. Such was apparently the ordeal to which some of the French troops had been exposed. The wood they were in had been so riddled by shot that the bark was torn from many of the trees, and the boughs were hanging by shreds as if some one had been hacking at them with a knife, while huge holes gaped in the walls and roofs of the adjoining houses, some of which had been so knocked about that it seemed a marvel they remained standing. Yet, from the position of the ground, the troops exposed to the fire which made all this havoc, must have been pretty nearly as helpless as a flock of sheep. Some of them were almost as scared, and it was half-painful, half-ludicrous to watch them, although they were no longer in any danger—at least no momentary danger—taking as eager advantage of every bit of wall or ground that seemed to afford safe shelter, as if the shells were still pouring in showers over their heads. An officer galloping past got so furious at the sight of one such group that, after firing into them a volley of adjectives scarcely less terrible than the shells, he wanted my companion and myself to assist him "in kicking them to the front"—a request with which, however, we did not, for more reasons, perhaps, than one, think it desirable to comply. It must be heart-rending for French officers—a class than which no braver exists in the world—to have to lead raw troops who can't stand fire. A few pretended to be wounded, and almost the only chance I had of plying my office of amateur infirmier was obligingly offered me by a gentleman who wanted me to carry him, on the plea that he had a "contusion" in the back, but who was really suffering from fright. It was fortunate for him that the angry officer, who believed in kicking as the proper treatment for complaints of this kind, was not near, or the patient would speedily have had a real "contusion in the back," though probably rather lower down than the quarter he vaguely indicated to me. Among the really wounded men there were always—at least, such was my brief experience—so many professional infirmiers that I could scarcely have taken a brassard without depriving of it some one who understood its use much better than I did. I have heard and seen it more than once stated that the ambulances don't go near enough to the front, and that, in consequence, many wounded die who might be saved by timely aid. This may be true of some carriages, though, if they don't go far enough, the fault is often not theirs, but that of the commanding-officers, who are afraid of their manœuvres being hampered by a crowd of non-combatants. But the infirmiers themselves seemed to me most creditably free from any tendency to shirk dangerous duty, considering that they have not the excitement of fighting, nor the prospect of crosses, pensions, or promotion, to keep their courage up to the mark. As for the Frères des Ecoles Chrétiennes, who are, as it were, the crack corps—the Old Guard—of the infirmiers, their pluck is prodigious. They were conspicuous in their round flapping hats, white bands, and long black coats, in all parts of the field, ready to comfort the dying, carry the wounded, bury the dead—in fact, to do any duty required of them, at once the gentlest and bravest of men. I saw one of them pick up an obus, and when a soldier shouted to him to take care, as it was a fresh one and might still explode, instead of dropping it, as I fancy nine or ten civilians would have done, he had the presence of mind to put it slowly on the ground, as coolly as if it had been an egg, and then, turning round to us, who had made a most undignified rush from him, not being perhaps quite as well prepared for being blown into fragments heavenwards, he remarked that it "was very dangerous to let these things fall hard, as the concussion might make them explode." Our ambulance—a brake pressed into the service—was only fitted to carry the slightly hurt; but night had come on, and in the crowd and inevitable confusion it was almost impossible to make the right assortment, so the surgeon gave us to bring back to Paris two men who had received mortal wounds. One of them, shot through the chest, sat opposite to me, and as every now and then at a turn in the road the moon shone full on his pale face, wrenched with agony, and on his glazing eyes, I thought he was dying. I shall never forget his groans and ceaseless inquiries whether we were near home, as every jolt of our carriage put him to fresh torture. There are probably at this moment many lying helpless on the hard ground on which they fought and fell, with no shelter from the biting cold of a November night, and with no other hope of relief than death. Their condition may be much worse than that of the poor fellow near me, but I was naturally most impressed by his sufferings, and could not help thinking—I fear the reflection was painfully trite—that great wars would become all but impossible if the great men who make them and the little men who are weak enough to let them be made could see with their own eyes and hear with their own ears what I saw and heard in one short drive.

SCENERY IN LAPLAND.—Here and there, it is true, the landscape was dreary, as, for instance, when traversing a forest which had been burnt the summer before, where half-burnt pines lay scattered in every direction; blackened trunks and grey shrivelled trees scorched and killed, but still standing, stretched out their withered arms like ghastly skeletons. Others consumed nearly to the ground, the shell only, of hollow black bark, remaining, after the fire had eaten out the inside, showing the immense heat which attended the gigantic conflagration. In many places nothing but blackened ground to be seen, and then, again, patches of the most exquisitely-coloured mosses and lichens, contrasting strikingly with the dismal faces of nature around. But when our author reached the village of Quickjock, which he had determined to make his head-quarters, he found it everything he could wish.—Hutchinson's "Try Lapland."

AN INTERESTING ROYAL AUTOGRAPH.

WE have received the following for publication; it illustrates well the kindly feeling of "The Red Prince" for his fallen foe:—

"Orleans, December 8, 1870.

"Sir,—I beg to thank you much for the beautiful verses on the capitulation of Metz which you have sent to me. They are the more welcome as they recognise not only the bravery of the troops which I command, but also their Christian and kindly bearing to a gallant though fallen foe. It is a pleasure to me to perceive that a writer of your reputation and renown has recognised this fact, and has recorded it in verses the beauty of which will guarantee their transmission to posterity.—Yours, truly,

"FREDERIC CHARLES,
"Prince of Prussia, Field Marechael.

"Martin Tupper, Esq."

The verses in question are these:—

THE CONQUERORS AT METZ.

A CHRISTIAN INCIDENT.

A thrilling touch of nature
Amid the battle-brunt—
A gleam of angel-feature
On Moloch's horrid front,—
A beauty and a glory
To gild the soldier's scar;
Hark to this simple story,
An episode of war.

Fair Metz, in all her vastness,
That citadel of strength,
The Brunhild maiden fastness
Is overborne at length;
Is made her flag to lower,
Her gates to open wide
To victors in their power
And their panoply of pride.

By stern starvation vanquish'd
The hosts of gallant France
With hearts and faces anguish'd
Surrendering advance,
And pile their weapons mutely,
As patriots who can feel
Within their souls acutely
The sharpness of the steel.

How, then, didst thou receive them,
O noble German foe;
What welcome didst thou give them
In all their want and woe?
Did hate exulting loudly
Shout as the conquered passed?
Did spiteful glances proudly
Their scorn on Frenchmen cast?

No! silently, if gladly
Their enemies they raise
Half thankfully, half sadly,
And giving God the praise,—
Thus the whole army meets them
As brothers in distress,
And generously greets them
With looks of kindliness.

Each soldier gives his ration
To feast his fallen foe,
And saves him from starvation,
And soothes his bitter woe;
And, all the host united
In that grand act of love,
Unwittingly delighted
The Host of Heaven above!

Albury, Guildford. MARTIN F. TUPPER.

AMENITIES OF THE NEW YORK BAR.—Just after the adjournment of the McFarland trial a lively passage occurred between the two leading counsel on either side. The crowd was gradually leaving the court-room, and the Recorder, the City Judge, and many professional gentlemen within the bar were preparing to go to ex-Judge Russel's funeral, when Judge Davis made a remark to the Recorder with regard to Mr. Graham's conduct of the defence, saying that the latter had stated something in one of his bitter speeches that he could not prove. Mr. Graham, who stood near, talking to the prisoner, and Mr. Gerry, overheard him, and rushing up to Judge Davis, shouted, "Do you mean to say that anything that I have said is false?" Before Judge Davis could reply, Mr. Graham continued, shaking his clenched fist in Judge Davis's face. "You —— country pettifogger! you are not fit to associate with gentlemen; you ——! I could undress you and spank you like a child. You have insulted every witness I brought on the stand, and you've been paid money to hang this man!" Mr. Gerry and several others rushed up to Mr. Graham, and Recorder Hackett stepped up and interfered, when Mr. Graham pushed him aside, saying, "Don't interfere; you have no right to; you helped this man to insult me by your rebuke from the Bench." Officers then came between the parties and they were separated, and this ended the matter. The expletives which Mr. Graham used were not very choice. The crowd became highly excited, and one man proposed three cheers for John Graham, which were loudly given. When Mr. Graham went out he was loudly cheered by hundreds who had assembled on the staircase. The jury had departed before this passage between counsel occurred.—New York Times.

DOWN WEST.—A curious story comes across the plains, which, if true, is calculated to upset some of the favourite theories of the geologists. Professor Agassiz declares that the New World is incomparably older than the Old World, and Professor Winchell adds that, with the exception of part of Canada, the Western is the oldest part of the continent—so old, in fact, that it is nearly worn out, and hence is reduced to a desert. Now, what will the learned Professors say to this little scrap of scientific fiction from the Los Angelos News? It says that on the great Yuma desert, forty miles north of San Barnardino, and thirty miles west of Los Palmos, was formerly a shallow salt lake, which has recently disappeared, revealing the wreck of a large vessel embedded in the sand. There can be no mistake about it. Nearly one-third of the forward part of the ship or barque is plainly visible. The stump of the bowsprit remains, and portions of the timbers are perfect. No inscriptions, log book, valise, or other article has been found by which the strange craft can be identified; and the question is, how came she there? It is 40 miles from the nearest road, and, so far as known, nobody but Indians have ever passed that way. They never could have built a ship; and if they had, they could not have floated it upon that shallow lake. It is hardly rational to suppose anybody would attempt the passage of the plains in such a vehicle; and the more the editor thinks about it, the more he don't know. In the light of geology, we see but one possible solution to the question. It is the scow of some reckless Canadian who started to hunt for gold in California, and was shipwrecked on the way. It probably happened about the time the Rocky Mountains first came above water and interfered with overland navigation.—Detroit Press.

G. Matthews's b. g. Fireball aged (£20), 8st. 1lb
J. Ford's ch. f. Eveline, 3 years (£20), 6 st. 3 lbs.

Atlas went away with a strong lead, and kept it for two-thirds of the distance, when Countess and Little King passed the grey, and Countess came in a winner by a length.

The Great Western Handicap, of 80 sovereigns, with a sweep of 4 sovereigns each added. 1½ mile. The winner of the Bathurst Cup to carry 7 lbs. extra.

Mr. J. Keane's g m Silverstain, 5 years, 7 st. 7 lbs. 1
G. Matthews's b h Surbiton, 4 years, 7 st. 10 lbs... 2
W. Townsend's b. m. Bronzewing, aged, 6 st. 8 lbs. 3
J. De Clouet's blk. g. The Moor, aged, 8st. 7 lbs.
J. Ford's c. g. Marske, 5 years, 7 st. 5 lbs.
T. Ivory's br. g. Sir Hercules, 6 years, 7 st. 5 lbs.
A. Town's c. f. Illumination, 3 years, 7 st. 4 lbs.
W. Hollman's b. g. The Gift, aged, 6 st. 12 lbs.
W. Robinson's g. g. Pacha, aged, 6st. 8 lbs.
A. Thompson's Blue Bonnet Colt, 3 years, 5 st. 10 lbs.

Eight horses started. Bronzewing made the running, Blue Bonnet, Silverstain, and Surbiton following, and in this order they continued until they entered the straight running, when Surbiton and Silverstain went to the front, and, after a desperate race, finished with a dead heat. The pair afterwards ran off the race, and Silverstain won by a neck.

The Grand Stand Stakes, of 2 sovereigns each, half forfeit, with 30 sovereigns added; for all horses; 1½ mile.

Mr. G. Matthews's br. m. Cassandra, 4 years, 8 st. 10 lbs... 1
A. Town's c. h. Vauban, 3 years, 7st. 12 lbs. . 2
J. Declouet's c. h. Archer, 5 years, 9 st. 3 lbs. 3
A. Town's c. f. Illumination, 3 years, 7 st. 10 lbs.
T. Ivory's br. g. Sir Hercules, 6 years, 9 st. 2 lbs.
W. Robinson's c. m. Victrix, 5 years, 9st. 1lb.

After a beautiful race, Cassandra won by half a length.

The Forced Handicap, of 2 sovereigns each, with 20 sovereigns added; for all winners, except the Tally Ho Stakes, was won by Countess, beating Little King, Grey, Pasha, and Lieutenant.

MELBOURNE.

FRIDAY.

The following have been returned as members of the Legislative Assembly: Wilson and M'Lellan, for Ararat; Casey and Moore, for Mandurang; Williams, for Maldon; Frazer and Gillies, for Maryborough; Walker and Woods, for Crowlands; Witt, for Murray district; and Grant and Davies, for Avoca.

Madame Sibly, the lady phrenologist, mesmerised several persons yesterday evening; her seances attract average audiences.

The Chinese lottery prosecution is postponed.

The conviction against the proprietors of the Oriental Cafe is confirmed.

Mr. Chandler has obtained £1000 damages against the Hobson's Bay Railway Company, for injuries through a collision; some points of law have been reserved.

Cape of Good Hope news to the 5th January, state that the diamond mines are exciting great attention, and precious stones to the value of a quarter of a million, have been skipped during the year. Governor Barkly had arrived and was enthusiastically received.

Flour is quoted at £14; maize, 4s. 10d.; kerosene is easier owing to unexpected arrivals.

HOBART TOWN.

FRIDAY.

William Walker, the oldest colonist, died suddenly yesterday.

ADELAIDE.

At the half-yearly meeting of the National Marine Insurance Company it was shown that the net profits amounted to £3500.

For wheat 4s. 9½d. is offering, and 4s. 10d. would be paid for any parcel.

QUEENSCLIFF.

FRIDAY.

ARRIVED.—H. M. S. Blanche, from Adelaide.

MAURITIUS, 30TH JANUARY.

[VIA MELBOURNE.]

The Elizabeth has arrived from Melbourne, and the Clara Sayers from Sydney. Holders of sugars had considerably advanced their rates, and since the improvement advised from England, 10,000 bags of grey syrups sold at an advance of two shillings on previous rates; grocery sorts were again firmer. Freights were rising. The Prospero was loading for the colonies, and the Janet Stuart and the Atrevida for Melbourne.

MURDER IN BRISBANE GAOL.—A very tragic occurrence took place at the gaol on Saturday morning (the Courier reports), resulting in the death of one of the prisoners, an old man named Michael Turley. The manner in which the event occurred is not as yet sufficiently clear, but from what we can learn appears to be as follows. A lunatic Chinaman, named Kimboo, has been a prisoner in the gaol for the last eleven or twelve years, he having been originally sentenced to death for murder, but afterwards reprieved on the plea of insanity. He was, as a general rule, harmless, and spent a great portion of his time in ornamenting his cell with various curious devices. On Saturday morning, however, he seems to have given way to a violent paroxysm of passion, either from provocation given him by his victim, or from some other cause. About 8 o'clock, immediately after the prisoners' breakfast, the warders, hearing cries, ran to the spot from whence they proceeded, and found the deceased lying in a pool of blood, which was flowing from a large wound in the skull, inflicted by the Chinaman with the handle of a broom. Turley was at once removed and medical assistance procured, when it was found that his skull was completely broken. Drs. Hobbs and Bell rendered all the aid in their power, but the sufferer gradually sank, and died at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Turley was undergoing a life sentence for shooting the superintendent of a station in the interior on which he had been employed, and had been in gaol for a considerable time. Representations were made to the Government some time ago that Kimboo should be removed to the asylum, but his removal was deferred on the ground that there were no cells at Woogaroo fit for his reception. A magisterial inquiry on the deceased will be held, when all the circumstances attending the melancholy event will be made public.

THE INTERCOLONIAL CRICKET MATCH.

IN a few days the players of the two chief Australian colonies will engage in the annual contest at cricket, which, according to what is now a long-standing arrangement, is this year to be played in Sydney. Among the changes which time and circumstances have brought about, the principal one is the alteration in the scene of conflict. Hitherto these matches have been played on the Domain ground; but, however picturesque and convenient, this has great defects in rendering the results of good batting very unequal. For that and other cogent reasons, the Albert Ground is now preferred, and there, on Thursday, will the wickets be pitched. The public need not be reminded of the fine level sward, of the splendid turf, and the excellent accommodation the place affords, to be persuaded that the Association has used good judgment in effecting this alteration. The trees have now grown sufficiently shady to be a protection from sun or wind, and seats have been placed around the enclosure, affording a much increased extent of sitting accommodation. With regard to the prospects of the match, it may be said, judging from the personnel of the two teams, that the best play Australia can exhibit is likely to be displayed. If Victoria does not appear again in the effective form she has of late years shown here and elsewhere, the probabilities are against her, for our players have never, perhaps, been fitter to meet an able antagonist. The respective teams are as under:—

VICTORIA.	NEW SOUTH WALES.
W. Campbell	Bannerman
Cooper	Caffyn
Costick	Coates
Darke	Faithfull
Goldsmith	D. Gregory
Heather	E. Gregory
Loughnan, jun.	Hewitt
Macfarland	Sheridan
Reid	Thompson
Williams	Park
Wills	C. Kellick.

The twelfth man on the New South Wales side is Oliver. Victoria sends only the eleven. They are on board the City of Sydney (s.), due in Sydney this afternoon. Only four of them have previously played in matches against this colony, but four of the strangers formed part of the team that recently took part against Tasmania. That match was almost a defeat of the Tasmanians in one innings, no wicket having fallen in the second of Victoria. Of these four, Loughnan scored 24, Cooper 22, and Goldsmith and Reid 2 each. Reid, the only one of them who bowled, had six wickets for 64 runs. Cooper has a high reputation from the mother country, well supported by what has been seen of his play in this colony. As often as these matches come about there arises the question as to the representative character of our team. There is always expressed a desire that it should be composed of something more than Sydney players, and this desire has been shared in by the Association; but their applications to country districts have met with no response that could be entertained, although the terms offered were identical with those more successful in Victoria. The absence of the names of Lawrence, Gilbert, Belcher, Cassidy, and the Moores of Maitland, might excite some querulousness, but it would appear that the Association was unable to obtain a guarantee that either of them was in such play as to be preferable to any of those in the above list. All the players chosen for practice have been regularly in attendance during the last month, though the play was not in full form; but during the last week the field has been formally set, and the bowling and batting such as to increase confidence in our men. His Excellency, for whom a special stall is to be fitted up in the grand stand, has intimated his intention to be present, and probably will be accompanied by Lady Belmore. Invitations will also be issued to gentlemen occupying leading positions in the Legislature. The Mayor promises permission for omnibuses to run to the ground at the ordinary Redfern fare; and application has been made to the Government to grant excursion tickets on the railways, for the convenience of country residents desirous of witnessing the match.

THE GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

APPOINTMENTS.—Mr. Robert Newberry Corbett, to be Visiting Surgeon to the Gaol at Albury. Mr. Charles Temple, to be Government Medical Officer and Vaccinator for the district of Young. YOUNG.—Mr. John Wolfe has been appointed bailiff of the Small Debts Court at Young.

ARMIDALE.—Patrick Rafferty, constable, has been appointed an Inspector of Weights and Measures for the police district of Armidale.

THE SYDNEY CHORAL SOCIETY.—The performance of the Oratorio of "Elijah," which is announced to take place at the Masonic Hall on the 8th, promises to be a treat such as the music-loving portion of the residents of Sydney have seldom enjoyed. It has been in preparation for some time. All the available talent that could be secured will take part in it. To render it in a manner worthy of the composer has evidently been the aim of the society, and its indefatigable conductor, Herr Schmitt, who has succeeded in bringing it into a state of efficiency seldom attained by amateurs. Last night there was a full rehearsal at the Masonic Hall.

THE BLAND MURDER.—It is pointedly remarked by the Express of the 1st instant that there would seem to be some fatality connecting Wagga with unfortunate men unfairly suspected of murder. It was only last week that we reported a fourth instance of the kind within a little more than a year, and now we have to record another. The man George Rogers, arrested at Wallace Town on suspicion of being concerned in the murder of a hawker on the Bland, was brought up at the Police Court on Saturday, when there proved to be no sort of evidence against him but a fancied resemblance to a very vague description of a man who had passed a couple of cheques supposed to have belonged to the murdered man. Rogers, who is well known here and at Naranders, proved, by the production of letters bearing the Brisbane postmark of the 3rd February, that at the date of the murder he was in Queensland, and was at once discharged.

THE FATHER OF GERMAN UNITY.

THE October number of the Edinburgh Review contains an article full of interesting facts in relation to the life and labours of Ernst Moritz Arndt, to whose influence, more than any other, it is alleged "the great enthusiastic union of the German race is due." The history of this wonderful man is rendered more than ordinarily attractive by the terrible events which have recently absorbed the attention of the civilized world. He was born in the same year as Napoleon I. (1769). He lived to see the end of 1859. He won for himself the love of the whole German people, who, as a term of endearment, called him "Father Arndt." On his ninetieth birthday there were many rejoicings throughout the Fatherland, and many congratulations were offered. "Deputations of every sort, bands of military music heading a great procession of soldiers, civilians, faculties, students, professors; rapturous acclamations answered by a last burning speech from the soul-stirred veteran himself; multitudinous gifts from anonymous donors, and numberless telegrams in honour of the day; such were the sights and sounds that moved the aged Arndt to the deepest depth of his comprehensive heart."

At the time of the foundation of this colony, young Arndt was leading a life of self-imposed hardship; of severe physical and moral discipline. In regard to this period of his life there is a characteristic paragraph in his "Recollections." He was, at the time referred to, a pupil in the Stralsund Upper School. He says:—"Every spot of wood and copse, and seashore within a dozen miles of Stralsund was often pressed by my wandering feet. The hours I spent thus, and in company with friends, were taken from the night. Thank God! I never needed very much sleep; perhaps I should have wanted more, but for my principle of keeping under my body and bringing it into subjection by hard discipline and constant weariness." He slept on bare boards like a guard-bed, or on faggots; sometimes in the open air under a haystack, or a tree, wrapped up only in a cloak. When twenty-two years of age he went to the University of Greifswald to study divinity, but his religious convictions were disturbed while a candidate, and he declined to take orders.

When twenty-eight years old, Arndt set out on a Continental tour. He travelled for the most part on foot, and obtained a knowledge of various nationalities and peoples, which in after life was of great service to him. He then became a private tutor at Greifswald, his first university. Here he fell in love with the daughter of one of the Professors. He married her, but, within twelve months from his marriage, was a widower.

Now began the development of political life within him. In his "Recollections" he speaks of the Revolution of 1789 as a great transition period in German feeling, and of his childish impressions; how in reading history he had rejoiced in every French reverse, and was "quite a little Englishman" in his hatred of the race. He then refers to the influence of the great Revolution upon his young manhood, and thus describes the bursting forth of his affections for the Fatherland:—

"Napoleon's return from Egypt took place within a very few days of my departure from Paris. I had watched that great ambitious figure of the time in his rise and progress. I had followed all his intrigues, his victories, his proclamations, and his conquests. I know not whether I had rightly understood him; but after the battle of Marengo I learned to shudder before that figure, so idolised by so many and so mighty men; and that shuddering was but an unconscious premonition of the ten years' woe which was to come. But my utter wrath—a wrath that at the thought of the degradation of Germany and Europe often became a very frenzy—this was awakened by the peace of Luneville, and the disgraceful stipulations, the underhand bargainings by means of which Talleyrand and Maret stripped and portioned out the divisions and destinies of the Fatherland. The events of 1805 and 1806 tore away the last supports on which anything truly German could any longer lean. The worst was come: the least and the greatest, the unknown and the famous—all that made Germany, lay in one common mass of desolation; and the Gallic cock crowed his victorious note over the ruins of her desecrated glory. . . . It was when Prussia and Austria, both after unavailing struggles, lay prostrate in the dust—it was then that my heart began to love them, and to love Germany with a real love, and to hate the French with a true and holy hate. It was not Napoleon only—not the crafty, calculating, taunting Corsican, born in the land where the very honey is a poison—not the man whom liars, afterwards, were ready to make the great scapegoat for all the just wrath of Europe—it was not him I hated most; it was the French themselves—the deceitful, proud, ambitious French, the crafty, treacherous enemies of Germany through centuries gone by; it was these I hated in the very fulness of wrath, and in that very fulness of wrath I recognised my Fatherland, and loved it in a passion of love. All that was mere Swedish died out of me*; the very hero names of Sweden became for me but echoes of the bygone time; and just when, through its divisions, Germany had no longer an existence, my heart embraced the notion of its oneness and unity." This was the passion of his life.

His first political work was a "History of Serfdom in Pomerania and Rugen;" and its exposures brought upon him the displeasure of the ruling classes. It contributed, however, towards the abolition of serfdom a few years later. At a subsequent period, after the disasters of Ulm and Austerlitz, he published "The Spirit of the Age," by which "he at once asserted his vigorous patriotism over the German mind," and "struck the chord of faith and hope and love of country, which has never ceased since then to tremble in the German soul, and which now, after a lapse of threescore years, seems at last to be swelling mightily to its grandest and fullest vibration." "If," said Arndt to the German people, "each of you can feel your heart honest, your country worthy, your laws holy, your fatherland imperishable, and your princes noble—then, have no fear; for so the world is saved. For every hundred such as you are worth a host of other men."

The reviewer points out that this language, with equal appropriateness, might in this day be applied to the people of France. In 1806, when the French lorded over the Germans, Arndt fled to Stockholm, and subsequently to Berlin, where, with like-minded men, he spent much time practising in rifle and pistol galleries, in the hope that his skill might some day be useful to his people. Some years prior to this, he had "called out" a Swedish officer who had used language reflecting on the people of Germany, and had received a shot through the body.

In the Easter of 1810 he was enabled to return to the University of Greifswald, and resume his professorship. He did so, he says, "with neither the desire nor the hope of retaining it long. Who could at that time calculate on anything remaining a year or two secure and unchanged? But two objects were essential to me,—first, to make myself a position in an honourable and irreproachable civil capacity; and, secondly, to settle my private affairs. Both of these objects I had secured by the following summer (1811), and then sent in my resignation, packed up my books, papers, and possessions, and betook myself to my old house at Trantow to await events; ready to fly if I must fly, or to journey if my country wanted me."

After numerous escapes, he found congenial employment as secretary to Baron von Stein, of St. Petersburgh, whom he described as "not only a representative of German interests in all the events of the time, but also in some sort that of a German dictator." He adds: "We knew how abroad every German with a patriotic soul looked forward to the deliverance of his Fatherland from shame and wretchedness; to the dissolution of the hateful Confederation of the Rhine, and to the demolition of the might of France. And we knew how even in Russia there were fighting under Napoleon's standard not less than 150,000 Germans, troops raised by the Confederation, and auxiliaries raised from Prussia and Austria. It was our belief and hope that, if once the star of the mighty Attila of his time grew pale, we might move the hearts of these multitudes driven as they had been so far from their homes towards the East, by reminding them of the great Fatherland which still lay behind them, and for which they might rather choose to wage a holy battle than to let themselves be herded to death by a foreign conqueror. Numbers of brave men, inflamed with a noble rage and holy hope, had flocked to Russia under the rallying cry, 'The German Fatherland,' in order to take the sword with Alexander against Napoleon, and with all their energies to stir up German youth for the liberation of their country. This was the idea of the German Legion, which was set on foot at St. Petersburgh, and the care of this matter was the first business given to my charge."

Thus Arndt was employed as a German author. He says: "My time was occupied to the utmost in keeping the Press busy with writings partly dictated by my own feelings, partly commissioned directly by the Government,—pamphlets, stirring appeals, calls to arms, despatches, proclamations, contradictions and exposures of French statements and reports, some couched in Russian language and suiting Russian views, and others from the German stand point. These writings were printed from time to time in German (sometimes even in French) and published in various places at once; some were distributed to individuals, some sent by post, some even thrown about the streets and public places, scattered like sparks of fire in the hope that here and there one might kindle in a patriotic heart, and help to spread the mighty flame."

Such was the work of Arndt until the overthrow of Napoleon, whom he seemed to take pleasure in designating the "Corsican upstart." His national songs were full of fire. His "Catechism for Germany's soldiers and defenders" set forth how a warrior should be a Christian man, and go to battle having God upon his side. It was circulated in tens of thousands during the War of Liberation. Here is a specimen sentence: "A brave soldier will not boast himself for the sake of worldly fame, nor be puffed up with vanity, but faithfulness to his Fatherland will be his highest glory, and a quiet courage his brightest ornament."

After the Hundred Days Arndt removed to Bonn, and became Professor of History in its University. Here he married his second wife. In 1819 he came under censure of the Government for his political writings, and it was twenty-one years before he was permitted to prove his innocence of the charge of disloyalty. In 1840 King Frederich Wilhelm IV. restored him to the full exercise of his office. He was created head of the University, and the enthusiasm of the students is said to have been unexampled. After twenty years more of peaceful labour he descended to the tomb, and the reviewer from whose lengthy article the foregoing facts are taken concludes his notice in these words:—"Thus simple, and brave, honest, without pride or pomp, or wealth, yet rich in peace, in honour, and his country's love, this remarkable man lived and died. He rests from his labours, and we have but to look around to-day and see how, reflected in the conduct of myriads of his people, the spirit that moved him is moving, to add the additional words the Scripture suggests 'and his works do follow him.'"

* The Island of Rugen, at the time Arndt was born there, was Swedish territory.

THE SALUBRITY OF SYDNEY.—Mr. Andrew Ross, M.D., in the Medical Gazette for March, observes:—Were I disposed to offer an opinion of Sydney as a city of health, I certainly should be inclined to view it in an unfavourable light, simply on account of its geological formation (composed chiefly of carboniferous sandstone), its naked sterile neighbourhood, and not over-reliable source of water supply. Tank water, conserved from the roofs of houses during times of rain, especially if covered by shingles (well burnt tiles or slates are preferable articles for this purpose), cannot be used for any lengthened period without incurring the risk of facilitating the development of parasitic and epidemic diseases, which may oft be confounded with febrile and other intestinal disorders (in children particularly) arising from quite a different order of causes. But this is a subject, though introduced here en passant, that may well deserve a little closer attention. The absence of vegetation around Sydney, and the rays of the sun constantly beaming on the sand and naked vicinity, must naturally also tend materially to render the summer's heat (even though tempered by a sea breeze) more oppressively hot than it otherwise would be were its scenery more undulating and its vegetation more prolific." The scenery is unquestionably more undulating than that around any other city in Australia, if we except Adelaide, and the want of vegetation is fast being supplied.

THE ANGLO-AUSTRALIAN TELEGRAPH VIA QUEENSLAND.—The Brisbane Courier states that a private letter received from one who is well informed on the subject, acquaints us that at the time of the departure of the English mail just received, no definitive agreement had been made between the Agent-General for South Australia and the British Australian Telegraph Company with regard to laying a cable between Java and Port Darwin. The company insisted that South Australia should be subject to a penalty in case of the line across the centre of Australia not being completed by the end of this year; and Mr. Dutton demanded that there should be a mutuality of penalties, and that the company should be bound down to keep the line open from England to India. This, however, could not be done, the company being established under the limited liability system, and there being no limit to the possible liabilities that might be incurred by entering into an obligation, subject to penal consequences, to keep communication open, which might be interrupted for a long period by causes over which the company has no control. The British Australian Telegraph Company has evidently discovered that South Australia has attempted a work that it is simply impossible to carry out within the time promised. The company will yet have to accept our offer, which is simply this:—"We guarantee you an interest of five per cent. on the cost of constructing a cable from Java to Normanton, so long as you keep it in working order. Our land line will be at Normanton by the middle of the present year—at all events quite as soon as your cable will be there to meet it." Now, we do not think that the company can make better terms than this with any other parties. With a fair scale of charges for the transmission of telegraphic messages, a very satisfactory income will be ensured, and there can be no possible loss when a guarantee of five per cent. is given by Queensland, and in which New South Wales will probably join. One way or other, however, we are sure to connect with the Anglo-Indian telegraph lines before the end of this year.

THE NEW ZEALAND EVERGREEN.—This remarkable piece of art is still on view in Hunter-street. Persons who have not seen it cannot realise the industry, patience, and artistic talent displayed by Mr. Dry in a work of such a novel character. A picture, formed entirely of wood, with all the light and shade imparted to it by the manner in which the component particles of wood are placed together, equal to that of an oil painting, is an effort of human genius which every one in the community ought to see. It is, indeed, well worthy of inspection.

THE PRINCE OF WALES OPERA HOUSE.—The "Lancashire Lass" has not proved so attractive as the management could have wished for, and although great expense has been incurred in its production, it will be withdrawn after to-night. The admirable scenery, novel stage effects, and well-played characters, ought to have secured it a lengthened run. Mr. and Mrs. Darrell (formerly Mrs. Heir), a lady familiar to all Australian playgoers, have been engaged, and open on Monday night. During their engagement, Byron's new play entitled "Blow for Blow," will be produced. It has been very successful in England; and, with such an actress as Mrs. Darrell to play the leading part, it will probably obtain a large patronage here.

VICTORIA THEATRE.—BENEFIT TO MR. HUSSEY.—During the week the Hussey Troupe of Minstrels have been as usual successful in attracting large audiences to their varied and pleasing entertainments. The choruses alone, with their admirable refrains, &c., to say nothing of the orchestral accompaniments, and the abundant coruscations of wit with which they are interspersed, are sufficient to repay those who visit the Victoria Theatre at the present time. Last night was the benefit of Frank Hussey, who is without a doubt the soul of the troupe, and whose abilities as a comedian are far too well known to require comment. The public, to testify their appreciation of Mr. Hussey, filled the house to overflowing from pit to roof; great numbers being obliged to stand throughout the performance. Mr. Hussey made his appearance for the first time in "white face;" and sang in character a couple of well-known comic songs. Mrs. Hussey (Miss Blanche Clifton) sang the "Star-Spangled Banner," the "Marseillaise," the "Watch on the Rhine," and "Rule Britannia," and was loudly applauded for her delivery of each. For each national song, there were shown appropriate tableaux, executed by Wilson and Habbe. Messrs. Gibson and Gan of the Woollahra minstrels gave their services for Mr. Hussey's benefit, as did also Mr. Dind of the Prince of Wales those of the Misses Ford. The entertainment concluded with two farces, the one entitled "A party named Johnson;" the other "The mischievous monkey."

The Mint receipts and issues during the week ending to-day were—Gold received for coinage, 19,678 oz.; coin issued, 57,000 sovereigns.

A quiet week has been passed in the Stock and Share markets. There have been a few transactions in bank stock, and holders of Commercial, having conceded a point, buyers have operated at 55 to 55½. City were dull, 7½ being the highest price paid; and for Joint Stock, 8¼. Buyers of New South Wales are still unwilling to pay the advanced price required, and no sales have taken place since last report. New Zealand were taken at 14½. In steam shares, we note an easier feeling in Australasian, with sales at 13 to 13¼. Hunter River were firmer, and brought 8½ ex div. Inquiries for insurance stock are very limited; General were dealt in at an improvement of 2s., closing at 38s. Peak Downs Copper met a readier market, and recovered 1s. of the decline noticed last week; a considerable quantity changed hands at 25s. 6d., and some at 26s. The demand for New South Wales Government debentures is still unsupplied, and other investments of that class are in request. Queensland six per cents., due 1891, were taken at 106; a parcel due 1896 is offering for less money. Queensland Treasury bills, due at the end of the year, realised 100½. New Zealand Treasury bills, 101; and City debentures, due 1879, were taken at par.

The following table exhibits the state of the market at close:—

The inability of shippers to obtain tonnage for London has a prejudicial effect upon the tallow market. At public sales this morning, there was very little demand and most of the larger lots were withdrawn. Hides were in fair demand at late rates, and a large quantity changed hands. The sales were as follow:—

By Mr. Turner: 232 hides at 18s. 6d. to 25s., 191 at 15s. 3d. to 18s., 86 at 13s. 3d. to 14s. 9d., 27 at 7s. 6d. to 11s. 9d.; 49 calfskins at 2s. 6d. to 5s. 7d.; yearlings 4s. 1d. to 6s. 9d.; horse hides, 7s. 9d.; cow hair, 6¾d.; horse hair, 13¾d. to 16¾d. 3 casks tallow at £29 15s., 1 at £26 10s. Sole leather, 7½d. to 8¾d.; kip, 11½d. to 1s. 5¾d.; harness, 9¾d. to 1s. 0½d.; calf, 2s. 10d. to 3s. 1d.; kangaroo, 3s. 10d.; yearling, 1s. 8¼d.; cordovan, 2s. 1d.; bazils, 5s. 7d.; bag, 13s. 8d.

By Messrs. Irwin and Co.: 240 hides at 18s. 9d. to 21s. 9d., 151 at 15s. 6d. to 17s. 9d., 132 at 11s. 3d. to 14s. 9d.; sole leather at 8d. to 8¾d.; kip, 1s. 2¼d. to 1s. 4¾d.; calf, 2s. 4d. to 2s. 7d.; strap, 11s. 10d.

By Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin: 70 hides at 19s. to 21s. 9d., 159 at 17s. 6d. to 18s. 3d., 7 at 7s. to 10s. 9d.; calfskins, 2s. 7d.; yearlings, 4s. 6d.; goatskins, 8d.; hair, 7¾d. to 11¾d.; shankbones, £5 to £8 10s.; horns, 10s. 6d. to 13s. 6d.; 4 casks tallow at £34 15s., 2 at £28 5s., 2 at £27 15s., 7 at £27 10s., 2 at £27 5s., 2 at £27, 5 at £26 15s.

By Messrs. Mort and Co.: 448 hides at 18s. 6d. to 25s., 417 at 15s. 6d. to 18s., 13 at 14s. 6d., 36 at 4s. 9d. to 12s. 3d., yearlings 5s., calfskins 6d. to 2s. 3d., shankbones 6s. 9d.; 1M, 13 casks tallow at £31 15s.; P in circle, 14 at £26 10s., 12 at £27 10s.; TH, 29 at £28 5s.; JN, 6 at £33; JC, 7 at £27 5s.; APD, 6 at £30; S & G, 5 at £32 7s. 6d.; MO, 6 at £27 10s., 2 at £30, 1 at £29 10s., 3 at £29, 1 at £28 5s., 3 at £28, 1 at £27 10s., 1 at £27.

Messrs. Richardson and Wrench have sold by auction and private contract, during the week:—Land, 29 feet, Bathurst-street, near Sussex-street, with brick premises, £510—Mrs. A. Simmons, purchaser; land, 29 feet frontage, Bathurst-street, adjoining, £290—Mr. T. Law, purchaser; six small cottages, Goulburn-street, near George-street, £950—Mr. W. Dunn, purchaser; allotments, Pyrmont Bridge Road, Glebe, £5 10s. per foot—Mr. Eveleigh, purchaser; 129 acres, Mossman's Bay, North Shore, with improvements, £1500—Mr. R. Harnett, purchaser; farm, Wingecarribbee Estate, Bowral, 36½ acres, at £2 10s. per acre—Mr. W. Alcorn, purchaser; land, Marrickville, £90 per acre.

There has been more business doing in the import markets during the past week, as retailers' stocks have become so low and the settlement of the tariff question so indefinite, that traders are being forced to purchase. Breadstuffs have been very steady; town millers supply bakers' lots of flour at £13 10s. to £14; best Adelaide brands selling at £14 to £14 10s. Wheat has been inquired for, and for small lots 5s. 10d. would be readily obtained. Bulk ale of new brew is scarce, trade quantities of best brands are quoted at £8 to £8 5s. Old brew has moved more freely at £7 to £7 5s. Bottled beer has a slow sale at former rates. Brandies have been in improved request at advanced values, best brands of case are from 1s. to 2s. dearer. There is none of Hennessy's in first hands, and holders of Martell's are firm at 27s. to 27s. 6d. In geneva we hear of business done in JDKZ of small contents at 9s. to 9s. 3d. There is no change to report in Dundee goods. The scarcity of raisins is the most noticeable feature in dried fruits. Good Cape are quoted at 5½d. Coffee is firm. Prime Java and Manila sorts command full prices. Quotations for fish close the same as last week; all descriptions are in supply. Groceries and oilmen's stores have been dealt in at late rates. Prime cheese and hams are very salable—14d. has been paid for the latter. Kerosene and colza oils maintain their value; large shipments of the former advised as having arrived at Melbourne during the week are likely to affect prices. Cocoanut, of good quality, is more salable. Pig iron is very dull. Galvanized is also in less request. The sugar market remains unaltered, though buyers are hardly so anxious to purchase. Mauritius advices to January 30th, received to-day by telegram, report the Engelbert and Isle of France as returning here with cargoes. The Clara Sayers is also likely to come to this market; several vessels were loading for other colonies. Quotations for sugars are reported as having advanced. Teas are selling more freely, and importers obtain their prices with less difficulty. Several parcels changed hands within the last few days on private terms.

The Argus of Monday reports of the Melbourne markets:—

> In the import markets this forenoon nothing of a special character has transpired, and the excitement noticeable for the last day or two appears to have toned down again to some extent. In breadstuffs we continue to note sales of flour for trade purposes at £14 to £14 5s per ton, or 14s to 14s 3d per cental. Wheat maintains a steady quotation of 6s per bushel, or 10s per cental, for best Adelaide descriptions, but no further transactions have come under our notice to-day. Oats are likewise without much animation being observed; quotations are steady at 3s 8d to 3s 9d per bushel, or 9s 2d to 9s 4½d per cental. Maize is very quiet indeed; there is no stock in importers' hands, and we hear of nothing like parcels being offered; holders are firm at 4s 10½d to 4s 11d per bushel, or 8s 8¼d to 8s 9¾d per cental. There is no inquiry for candles; we quote 10½d, but buyers are very backward. Malt is offering more freely at 7s 6d; purchasers, however, are very indifferent, and the sales effected are consequently of little account. No further transactions in kerosene oil have been recorded, but the market is firm and steady. In teas we are informed that 1200 packages of medium congous, ex Peter, were disposed of in one line. Four hundred bags of counter sugars were cleared at £39 10s. Brandies continue to bear the advancing tendency imparted by recent operations in the market.

COCKROACHES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—Amongst the thousands who read your valuable and widely circulated paper, perhaps some one will kindly suggest a cure for the spread of these pests in private houses. I have been living eighteen months in a newly-built detached villa, at Balmain; when we entered it there was no sign of these pests, but they have gradually become so numerous, from the kitchen to every part of the house, that even the furniture is at times nearly full of them. They are of a small black and brown species, varying from the size of a flea to three-quarters of an inch in length—they abound in millions. I have tried several things, but nothing seems to check them. The kitchen and pantry seem to be their principal resort, from which they penetrate every part of the building—the bedding, drawers, wardrobes, and boxes are more or less infested with them. I have thought of washing the walls with arsenic and lime, but have abstained, thinking, perhaps, some less dangerous compound would be suggested by some one of your readers who unhappily might have suffered from a similar grievance.

I am, Sir, yours, &c.,

N.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—In your issue of to-day the Windsor correspondent states that at the yearly inspection of the Richmond Rifle Corps, conducted on Friday last by Colonel Richardson, the Company was severely censured "for general inefficiency," and that it is reported it was told that unless it greatly improved by next inspection, its services would be dispensed with altogether. This report, which is an injustice to Colonel Richardson and to the Company under my command, I beg most emphatically to deny. The facts of the case are these:—The ranks were opened, and the men ordered to slope arms, when the Colonel, assisted by Captain Baynes, Brigade Adjutant, and Sergeant-Major Hill, minutely examined each man's arms, accoutrements, and clothing. The ranks were then closed and the Colonel requested me to put the corps through company drill. After which Sergeant-major Hill acted as instructor, and the men were put through company and light infantry drill for upwards of an hour. They were then drawn up in line, when the Colonel, to the best of my belief, and I was standing close by his side at the time, addressed them and stated:—That he was pleased with the general appearance of the corps, the manner in which the arms, accoutrements, and clothing were kept, and with the good attendance. That the drill, taking into consideration the wet and unfavourable weather, and the short time they had to learn the new drill, was, with two or three exceptions, satisfactory.

The spare arms and those sent for inspection, together with the accoutrements, were considered to be a credit to any armoury.

I cannot understand how the above opinions could be construed into a censure for general inefficiency. The company understood them to mean that they had passed a favourable inspection, an opinion which they still hold.

To my knowledge also, there is no such company as No. 2 Hawkesbury, the corps under my command being known as the Richmond Rifle Corps, and has been known as such since its formation.

Trusting that you will insert this letter in your valuable journal, and apologising for the length of it,

I remain, Sir, your obedient servant,
WILLIAM H. HOLBOROW,
Captain Richmond Rifle Corps.

Richmond, March 2nd.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—To-day we have had the benefit of the young Arabs on board the ship Vernon firing their big guns from Cockatoo Island at a target about 100 yards off the point of my property on Five Dock. Most of the balls went up Iron Cove, along the surface of the water, lighting within 20 to 30 yards of the punt when she was crossing with passengers and carts. Two ladies came down in a carriage with the intention of crossing in the punt from Balmain, but when they saw the balls jumping in the water past the route of the punt, they wisely turned back to Sydney. I have just been over to Balmain (3 p.m.) and saw two balls pass within a few yards of the stern of the punt. When do you think it will be in the power of the present Colonial Secretary to give orders to have this firing from Cockatoo stopped? It was only the other day that the Rosario fired a 12-lb. shell through the roof of my house, and, although Captain Challis very promptly repaired damages and made an apology, I have no intention of again submitting to any similar attack without compensation, although I have been very politely informed by Mr. Halloran that the Colonial Secretary has referred my complaint to his Excellency the Governor, and that the Governor has referred it to the Commodore on the station, but I fancy that the Vernon is not under his authority.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
CHARLES ABERCROMBIE.

Five Dock, 3rd March.

At the Leeds assizes Mr. Justice Byles has announced that, in all cases of robbery with violence, he shall order the application of the lash; and, as an earnest of his intentions, he sentenced two garrotters to receive twenty-five lashes each.

" Berkeley, September, 1869.—Gentlemen, I feel it a duty I owe to you to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived by taking 'Norton's Camomile Pills.' I applied to your agent, Mr. Bell, Berkeley, for the above-named Pills, for wind in the stomach, from which I suffered excruciating pain for a length of time, having tried nearly every remedy prescribed but without deriving any benefit at all. After taking two bottles of your valuable pills I was quite restored to my usual state of health. Please give this publicity for the benefit of those who may thus be afflicted.—I am, Sir, yours truly, HENRY ALLPASS.—To the Proprietors of NORTON'S CAMOMILE PILLS.—ADV.

THURSDAY, 30TH MARCH.

FOR SALE.

BARHAM STATION,
Murray River, Colony of New South Wales.

IMPORTANT SALE of freehold and station property, called The BARHAM STATION,
situate in the Murrumbidgee district of New South Wales,
With about
5000 head of well-bred cattle.

This important property will be offered for sale by public auction at Menzies' Hotel, Bourke-street West, Melbourne, on THURSDAY, 30th March, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, by order of the trustees of the estate of the late Edward Bernard Green, Esq.
The property is computed as comprising an extent of about 114,656 acres (of which 5463 are freehold) and possesses a frontage of about 16 miles to the Murray River.
The property is also watered by the Thule, Wakool, and other creeks and lagoons.
This important and productive station has been held for many years by the late proprietor, and subsequently by the trustees under his will, and is considered one of the most valuable stations in the district.
The improvements comprise about 54 miles of fencing, bounding and dividing the property into sections and paddocks.
There is a dwelling-house, also garden and out-houses, with stables, stockyards, and improvements for working upwards of 5000 head of cattle.
Barham station is about 55 miles distant from the railway terminus at Echuca, and is within a few days' journey to the principal markets in Victoria.
There are rich and luxuriant grassed plains, fine open forests of box tree, warm dry sandhills, and other advantages.
The sale will also comprise about 5000 head of well bred cattle of good ages and proportions, the station-bred portion numbering stock from Mr. Lyall's Hereford blood, and from the well-known Durham herds of Mr. M'Evoy, Mr. Degraves, and others. Also, about 70 horses, and all necessary appliances for working a valuable and extensive property of this nature.
The season having been most favourable, in consequence of the abundance of the rains, the stock will be found in good condition.

Further information and permission to inspect may be obtained, and plans of the property seen, on application to the Auctioneer,
Mr. J. G. DOUGHARTY, Bourke-street, and to Mr. ROBERT KERR, 10, Collins-street, Melbourne.

WOOLGARLO LEAD MINES.

For Imperative Sale.

That well-known mineral property belonging to the WOOLGARLO LEAD MINING COMPANY, containing about 640 acres of freehold land, and situated about 15 miles from YASS, on the Yass River, a little above its junction with the Murrumbidgee.
The IMPROVEMENTS comprise Cottages, Store-rooms, and all necessary buildings for the protection of the extensive and valuable plant of machinery, including
Two Steam-engines with Boilers, &c., complete.
Battery of 10 Stamps with spare Stampers, Crushing rolls,
Pumps and Pipes for supplying water from the river,
Chimney Stack and Flue, Fire Bricks, &c., &c., &c.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on MONDAY, March 20th, at 11 o'clock.
The above freehold mining property and plant, full particulars of which may be obtained on application at the Rooms, Pitt-street; or at the office of the company, Lloyd's-chambers, George-street.

This property, which is brought into the market in consequence of the necessity which exists for closing the affairs of the Woolgarlo Lead Mining Company (Limited), has been pronounced by high practical and scientific authorities to be very rich in lead ores, and offers therefore a most promising investment to men of enterprise. A large amount of capital has been expended upon the property, and a quantity of ore has been successfully worked, but the full capabilities of the mine have not yet been tested; so that the property may now be said to be offered to the public for absolute sale, with all its preliminary expenses incurred and paid for. The property will be offered subject to a mortgage of one thousand pounds.
Terms at sale.

UNRESERVED SALE.
To wind up a Trust Estate.

BROUGHAM AND DUKE STREETS,
WOOLLOOMOOLOO.

LARGE BLOCK OF LAND, together with STONE-BUILT HOUSE, &c., near William-street, opposite the residence and grounds of B. BURDEKIN, Esq.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, 6th March, at 11 o'clock,
All that piece of land, having the following frontages:—
142 feet 11 inches to Brougham-street
142 feet 11 inches to Duke-street, with a depth of 116 feet 10 inches, on which is a substantial commodious stone-built house, containing upwards of 12 apartments, with stables, coach-house, &c., at the rear.

☞ This property is let on lease, which expires in about four years.
Title unquestionable. Full particulars can be obtained on application to Messrs. ABBOT and YEOMANS, Solicitors, George-street.
Terms at sale.

UNSTOCKED RUNS.

By order of the Government of New South Wales.

Day of Sale, MONDAY, 20th March, 1871.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the Hon. JOHN BOWIE WILSON, Minister for Lands, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on MONDAY, 20th March, 1871, at half-past 11 o'clock,
NEW LEASES for five years of the several runs of Crown Lands hereinafter mentioned, upon the terms and conditions prescribed by the Crown Lands' Occupation Act of 1861, and the Regulations of 28th April, 1865.

. Full particulars of the boundaries of the several runs may be obtained on application at Messrs. Richardson and Wrench's Rooms, or from the GOVERNMENT GAZETTE, No. 38, of Friday, 17th February, 1871.

The special attention of intending purchasers is directed to the conditions published in the GOVERNMENT GAZETTE, under which these leases will be sold.

GOULBURN.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29.

IMPORTANT UNRESERVED SALE of some of the
CHOICEST and MOST VALUABLE FREEHOLDS
in the
CITY OF GOULBURN, comprising—
MANDELSON'S HOTEL, corner of Sloane and Clinton streets, at present in full trade
SHOPS adjoining, in Sloane-street
PRIVATE DWELLINGS
PROPERTY known as Stewart and Son's Coach Factory
ALLOTMENTS in Clinton and Cowper streets
And various Suburban Lots.

Under instructions from the Executors in the Estate of the late N. Mandelson, Esq.

F. S. COHEN and CO. have been favoured with instructions to sell by auction, at their Rooms, Auburn-street, Goulburn, on WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, at 12 o'clock,
That magnificent, important, and highly valuable property, known as MANDELSON'S HOTEL,
situate at the corner of Sloane and Clinton streets. This house was built in a most substantial manner of brick, with galvanized iron roof (under the immediately superintendence of the late N. Mandelson, Esq.), and is fitted and furnished throughout in a superior manner, with every regard to the comforts and conveniences required by such extensive premises, as well as for the purpose of carrying on a very large business.

The premises contain, on the ground floor 9 bedrooms, 6 parlours, 2 pantries, bar, taproom, and splendid hall paved with marble; whilst on the first floor are 18 bedrooms—airy and well ventilated, 2 parlours, 3 large parlours with folding doors, which when thrown open form a splendid room 55 feet 6 x 18 feet 6, capable of dining 120 persons comfortably. On this floor is also a large billiard-room, fitted with one of
BURROUGHS AND WATTS'S BEST BILLIARD TABLES,
with appointments, lamps, &c., complete. The second floor contains 6 convenient-sized bedrooms, both single and double. At the rear is the kitchen, 31 feet x 15 feet 6, with scullery, &c., as also 2 bathrooms fitted for hot, cold, and shower baths.

The yard arrangements are unrivalled by any similar establishment in the colonies, and consist of a WELL with a never-failing supply of water, fitted with a powerful force-pump, from which water is supplied to the bathrooms, as well as various parts of the main building. The stables are built of brick with shingled roof, and contain 9 stalls and 4 loose boxes, with loft over all. At the back are the coachhouse and sheds, fitted with racks and mangers capable of accommodating 30 horses. There is also a gas-house with two large gasometers, from which the hotel is supplied with light at a very trifling expense.

It is only under very rare exceptional circumstances that an opportunity occurs of purchasing such
FIRST-CLASS BUSINESS PREMISES
so splendidly situated, being within 100 yards of
THE TERMINUS OF THE GREAT SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

In the limits of an advertisement it is next to impossible to describe fully the numerous advantages enjoyed by this favourite house, which has been the leading hotel for very many years, having always been favoured with the patronage of
THE ELITE OF THE COLONY.

To those seeking a retreat from the bustle of the metropolis—to those visiting Goulburn for the purpose of enjoying its invigorating climate, as well as those who, from sanitary motives, visit
THE FAMED CITY OF THE SOUTH, this well-known establishment has at all times been their favourite resort, as offering conveniences for comfort unobtainable at any other hotel.

This remarkably fine property occupies, without exception, the CHOICEST BUSINESS POSITION in the city of Goulburn, and, commanding
AN IMMENSE TRAFFIC, would, if purchased and conducted by a thorough business man, be the means of his
ACCUMULATING A LARGE FORTUNE
in a very few years, whilst to the speculator a better or more profitable investment could not be found.

LOT 2.—FOUR FIRST-CLASS BUSINESS PREMISES, situated in Sloane-street, and adjoining Mandelson's Hotel. They are well and faithfully built of brick, with shingled roof, each containing large shop 17 feet 6 x 15 feet, with plate-glass fronts, parlour at back, 2 bedrooms upstairs, with kitchen and servant's room at rear.

☞ These are really MOST ELIGIBLE BUSINESS PROPERTIES, and will be sold either separately or in one lot. Their proximity to the railway station always commands permanent tenants, the whole being let at rentals of from £50 to £75 per annum.

The instructions for sale are POSITIVE; and the opportunity now presented of securing VALUABLE and PERMANENT INVESTMENTS should not be lost sight of.

LOT 3.—FOUR FIRST-CLASS SHOPS ADJOINING THE ABOVE, situated in Sloane-street, containing shop 15 feet 6 x 15 feet, parlour and 2 bedrooms, with kitchen and servant's room, &c.

. These properties are brought into the market for ABSOLUTE and POSITIVE UNRESERVED SALE, in accordance with the trusts contained in the will of the late proprietor; and the purchaser of any of these valuable lots will have the satisfaction of owning FREEHOLD PROPERTIES second to none in VALUE or POSITION in any provincial city in the COLONY OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

LOT 4.—SNUG PRIVATE DWELLING, situated in Sloane-street, and nearly opposite the residence of the Station-master, at present tenanted by J. Longfield, Esq. This snug dwelling contains 2 parlours, 4 bedrooms, kitchen, and servant's room, as well as every convenience.

LOT 4A.—COMFORTABLE FAMILY RESIDENCE adjoining the above, containing 2 bedrooms, 2 parlours, kitchen, servant's room, and necessary outhouses, &c.

The sale of the above dwelling will present a favourable opportunity for securing most faithfully-built and well-situated Family Residences, in corroboration of which the auctioneers would just simply state that they have rarely ever been without tenants.

Lot 5.—SHOP and DWELLING in Sloane-street, nearly opposite the Railway-station, at present let to Mr. Newbery, containing shop 26 feet 6 x 20 feet, two parlours 13 feet 6 x 20 and 24 feet 6 x 12 feet 6, four bedrooms, bathroom, kitchen, two servants' rooms, with necessary outhouses, &c. At the rear is a LARGE STONE STORE with shingled roof capable of storing 500 tons.

This is a well-known property, and from its situation and many business conveniences ought to command the attention of those seeking really good premises.

Lot 6.—Is an UNIMPROVED LOT, having a frontage to Sloane-street of 33 feet by a depth of 154 feet to a lane at the rear.

LOT 7 has a FRONTAGE TO SLOANE-STREET OF 33 FEET by a depth of 177 feet, upon which is erected an iron building at present used by Messrs. Stewart and Son as a show-room for buggies, &c.

LOT 8 has a FRONTAGE of 33 FEET to SLOANE-STREET, by a depth of 177 feet, and joins Lot 7. Upon this lot are erected EXTENSIVE BUILDINGS used by Messrs. Stewart and Son as a Coach Factory.

Lots 6, 7, and 8 are really VALUABLE BLOCKS OF LAND, and it is but very seldom that allotments such as these are brought forward for UNRESERVED COMPETITION.

LOT 9 has a FRONTAGE of 38 FEET TO LITTLE SLOANE-STREET, off Clinton-street, by a depth of 118 feet.

LOTS 10 to 13 have each a FRONTAGE of 36 FEET TO LITTLE SLOANE-STREET, by a depth of 118 feet.

☞ For subdivision and boundaries of Lots 9 to 13 see plan now on view at the rooms of the auctioneers.

LOTS 14, 15, have FRONTAGES respectively of 37 and 38 feet to CLINTON-STREET, by a depth of 203 feet, and are situated nearly opposite the Steam Flour Mills.

LOT 16 has a FRONTAGE to CLINTON-STREET of 40 feet by a depth of 203 feet.

LOT 17 has a FRONTAGE to CLINTON-STREET of 40 feet, by a depth of 79 feet, and adjoins the Hotel property.

. The attention of those seeking good freeholds is directed to the sale of this property, which occupies an excellent position, and contains within itself the elements of sure prospective remuneration for their investments.

In offering this fine block of land, F. S. C. and Co. would call special attention to THE VERY GREAT VALUE OF THIS PROPERTY, occupying as it does without doubt one of the FINEST POSITIONS for BUSINESS PURPOSES in the city, being in the immediate neighbourhood of ALL THE STEAM FLOUR-MILLS, close to the Railway Station, and in what may be termed the principal street—Clinton-street being now the MAIN THOROUGHFARE, commanding as it does the whole of the traffic of
THE GREAT SOUTHERN ROAD.

LOT 18.—ALLOTMENT 14 of SECTION 42, being a corner lot, having frontages of 132 feet to Cowper-street (Yass Road) and 165 feet to Addison-street, containing 2 roods.

LOT 19.—ALLOTMENT 15 of SECTION 42, joining the above, with a frontage of 165 feet to Addison-street by a depth of 132 feet.

LOT 20.—ALLOTMENT 7 of SECTION 36, having a frontage of 66 feet to Mulwarree-street, by a depth of 330 feet.

LOT 21.—ALLOTMENT 2, SECTION 29, fronting Lithgow-street, containing 1 rood 13 perches.

But little property of this description is now in the market for UNRESERVED SALE. The allotments offered are well situated, and the instructions for disposal being peremptory, an opportunity is offered of securing eligible sites at a moderate outlay for the erection of dwellings in healthy localities where constant tenancies might be looked for.

LOT 22.—REALLY CHOICE BLOCK, admirably adapted for the erection of a suburban residence in a healthy locality.

This block comprises lots 8, 9, 12, 13, and 14 of section 2, and lots 8 and 9 of section 1, being portions of subdivision of Lithgow's 100 acres, situated at Ifield, and containing in the aggregate 9 acres 9 roods 18 perches.

The auctioneers would request the special attention of anyone in search of a REALLY CHOICE BLOCK OF LAND, splendidly adapted for the erection of
to this lot. The proximity of this property to the Wollondilly River, and the ready access obtained to the business portion of the city (being within fifteen minutes' walk of the post-office), would render this a most desirable residence for any business man seeking a quiet healthy retreat for himself and family.

☞ In addition to the above, the auctioneers would wish to impress strongly on the minds of intending purchasers that the whole of the properties enumerated above are brought into the market for POSITIVE UNRESERVED SALE,
no matter how great may be the sacrifice. The public may therefore rely upon the fact of this being bona fide, as every lot submitted MUST BE SOLD POSITIVELY to the highest bidder.

A visit therefore from intending purchasers is earnestly invited prior to the sale, for which purpose cards to view may be obtained on application to the auctioneers, as the present occupiers will offer every facility for minute inspection.

Terms liberal.
Title perfect, guaranteed.

Plans of the hotel and Sloane and Clinton streets properties may be seen at the office of the auctioneers, Auburn-street, Goulburn.

FOR POSITIVE SALE.
By order of the Mortgagees.

THAT VALUABLE PASTORAL PROPERTY, known as
MOUNT DEBATEABLE,
in the
BURNETT DISTRICT, QUEENSLAND, together with
6000 MIXED SHEEP, more or less, and
500 HEAD OF CATTLE, more or less.

Terms.—One-half cash; residue by approved bills at twelve months, dated from day of sale, with bank discount added, secured on the property.

HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN have received instructions from the Mortgagees to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Bell's-chambers, Pitt-street, Sydney, at 12 o'clock, on WEDNESDAY, the 22nd day of March,
THE MOUNT DEBATEABLE STATION, comprising THREE BLOCKS of country in the Burnett district, Queensland, known as
MOUNT DEBATEABLE,
MALMOISON, and BUCKINGAR,
watered by the Burnett River, Oaky and Granite Creeks, which contain an abundant and never-failing supply of water in the driest seasons.

The COUNTRY consists of open forest ridges, box flats, and beautiful little black-soil plains.

The improvements are unusually good, and comprise a substantially built dwelling-house, finished in a very superior style, in every respect suitable for the family of a resident proprietor; an excellent garden, the largest and most productive in the district; kitchen, servants' rooms, store, dairy, meat store, good woolshed, shingled; cattle and sheep yards; men's huts, shingled; paddock, and several other erections too numerous to particularise.

The stock consists of 6000 MIXED SHEEP (a fair proportion of ages and sexes) and 500 WELL-BRED CATTLE, more or less, very quiet, and containing a large number of milkers.

. Working bullocks, drays, &c., stock horses, stores, implements, &c., &c., to be taken at a valuation, and 320 acres of freehold land at cost price.

☞ This property is particularly worthy the attention of persons desirous of combining a profitable investment with a comfortable home; its proximity to the township of Gayndah offers a certain market for fat stock and dairy produce. It is now placed in the market for positive sale by order of the mortgagees.

FOR POSITIVE AND UNRESERVED SALE.

WARRIGO DISTRICT.

WEST BOGAN, No. 10.

That choice and highly fattening station, formerly known as Mr. M'Kellar's.
Estimated Area 48,500 Acres.

HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN have received instructions from J. E. Serisier, Esq., to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Bell's-chambers, Pitt-street, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 12th April, 1871, at 12 o'clock,
That valuable fattening station, known as
WEST BOGAN, No. 10,
situated on the Bogan River, to which it has a large frontage, and is about 160 miles from Dubbo.

The IMPROVEMENTS consist of comfortable slab house of 4 rooms, verandah, &c., &c.; large PADDOCK and stockyard, and two tanks at the back of the run.
This run will be sold without stock.
Terms, cash.

In submitting this station for sale, the auctioneers would call attention to its remarkable fattening qualities, and being celebrated as a really well-watered run, they very confidently recommend intending purchasers to inspect it prior to the day of sale; and to small capitalists it offers a rare opportunity of securing really good country for a limited amount.

FOR POSITIVE AND UNRESERVED SALE.

BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEE.

900 HEAD MIXED CATTLE, more or less.

HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN have been instructed by the mortgagees to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Bell's-chambers, Pitt-street, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 12th April, 1871, at 12 o'clock,
The herd of cattle now depasturing on
WEST BOGAN, No. 10, consisting of
900 HEAD MIXED CATTLE, more or less; to be mustered and delivered.

These cattle are a superior bred, quiet herd, and can be inspected by intending purchasers on the above station, which is situated about 160 miles from Dubbo.
Terms, cash.

The station upon which the above cattle are running will be sold immediately after the cattle, which will enable a buyer to secure both stock and station if desired.

24,125 SHEEP.

FOR POSITIVE SALE.

MORT and CO. have received instructions to sell by public auction, in their Wool Sale Room, Philip-street, Circular Quay, at 11 o'clock, on TUESDAY, the 21st March, 1871,
The undermentioned fine-woolled sheep, consisting of, as per last returns—
10,959 (more or less) ewes, from 18 months to 6 years
7,213 (ditto) wethers, from 2½ to 4½ years
1,462 (ditto) mixed sheep of all ages
4,248 (ditto) lambs (ewes and wethers)
243 (ditto) rams

24,125 (ditto)

constituting all the flocks belonging to
THE GROSVENOR DOWNS STATION,
LEICHHARDT DISTRICT, QUEENSLAND.

The special attention of parties requiring breeding or store sheep is called to the above, which the proprietors have determined to put into the market for positive sale, in order that the station may be converted into a cattle run. In the event of purchasers not wishing to take delivery at Grosvenor Downs, where the sheep are now depasturing, and can be inspected, the vendors will engage to deliver them at any point (to be mutually agreed upon) on the frontier of New South Wales and Queensland.

For further particulars apply to MORT and CO.

In the Supreme Court of New South Wales.
Sheriff's Office, Sydney, 27th February, 1871.

RUSSELL AND OTHERS v. JOHN PURKIS, AS MANAGER OF THE TELEGRAPH GOLD MINING COMPANY (LIMITED).

ON MONDAY next, the 6th day of March, 1871, at noon, at the Commercial Hotel, corner of King and Castlereagh streets, Sydney (unless this writ be previously satisfied), the SHERIFF will cause to be sold by public auction,
All the right, title, and interest of the defendant, John Purkis, as Manager of the Telegraph Gold Mining Company (Limited) of, in, and to a lease of 30 acres of alluvial land at Young, together with one 15-horse-power steam engine, pumps, and the entire plant, implements and buildings, &c., thereon of the said company.
Terms, cash.
